Burke Raps Attempts at 'Compulsory Unionization'

WOULD CHANGE ACT

Class Antagonism Called Chief Menace to Business

Washington—(AP)—Senator Burke of Nebraska, one of the administration's severest Democratic critics, called today for the resignations of the members of the national labor relations board, charging they conceived their duty to be the "compulsory unionization" of American workers.

Burke addressed a meeting of delegates to the annual conference of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

He asserted that new personnel on the labor board would "greatly help" to solve what he termed the "deplorable situation" now existing around the labor relations law. He declared some changes were needed in the law itself, including a declaration of policy that it was intended to be fair to employers as well as to employees and also a provision giving courts concurrent jurisdiction with the labor board over labor questions.

Burke said the labor act had been designed "to promote industrial peace," but that in operation, "it has had exactly the opposite effect."

Sees Discrimination

He cited numerous cases handled by the labor board in which, he said, there was not only discrimination against the employer but also discrimination against groups of workers other than those represented by the committee for industrial organization.

"A deadly new depression," he said, "that has strangled industry and has deprived millions of responsible American citizens of their jobs has been caused in considerable part by the government-sponsored industrial strife of the past year."

The labor board, he declared, has as its purpose "to accomplish a national closed shop."

Union Membership

"The very fact that at the most, not more than seven, or eight, million workers out of a total of 35 or 40 million have seen fit to become dues-paying members of trade unions," Burke said, "is proof conclusive to this federal agency that employers are intimidated and coerced by their employees."

"They close their eyes to the truth that among the workers of the nation there is every shade of opinion, from the millions who are staunch union men by conviction and as the result of experience to other millions who are indifferent, and still others who are bitterly opposed to both the theory and the practice of unionism."

"In this Democratic nation each program has a right to its own ideas and should be protected in the exercise of that right. To join or not to join should be the free choice of the individual worker. Liberty loving American workmen will not countenance any other policy."

Washington—(AP)—President George H. Davis of the United States Chamber of Commerce declared today that class antagonism is the greatest menace to business.

"Experience is bringing home the realization that we can not get very far by penalizing the good in order to restrain the bad," Davis said in a speech prepared for the chamber's annual convention.

"Under the American system, organized as it is, held together by a mesh of reciprocal relationships, we all sink or swim together."

"Obviously everybody cannot have everything he wants," he said. "Differences must be compromised. If the American system is to endure, it

Reelect Mack Chairman of County Board

Shiocton Supervisor Is Named for Thirteenth Term

SEAT FIVE MEMBERS

Executive, Rules and Committee on Committees Selected

After seating five new members, the county board at its organization meeting this morning reelected Senator Mike Mack, Shiocton, chairman for his thirteenth term. Senator Mack has been a county board member for 24 years. He was elected without opposition.

Supervisor Emmett O'Connor, Grand Chute, who is confined to his home with illness, was reelected vice chairman by a unanimous vote. John Timmers, who was appointed yesterday by the town of Grand Chute board as temporary supervisor, is attending the session.

New members seated this morning are W. B. Brown, Hortonville; Fred Blohm, Osborn; Louis Faust and J. B. Delbridge, Kaukauna; and Walter Olson, Boynton.

Supervisors

George Schaefer, Greenville; Fred Konrad, Kaukauna; Frank J. Schmidt, Buchanan; and Arthur Zuitches, Seymour, were elected to the executive committee on the first ballot. Other nominees were Supervisors Arthur Mayer, Kaukauna; and Aaron Zerbe, Appleton. Mack as board chairman is automatically the fifth member of the committee.

Naming Committee

Supervisors Konrad and John D. Bottensek, Dale, were elected to the committee on committees. They will serve with Chairman Mack who because of his office as chairman is also a member of the committee. The committee was to meet this afternoon to select standing committees for the year. Konrad was named on the first ballot and Bottensek on the second. Other nominees were Supervisors Alfred Mueller, Seymour; and Schaefer.

Chairman Mack appointed Supervisors Konrad, Schaefer and Thomas Long on the committee on rules and the appointments were confirmed.

The board laid over until tomorrow a report of a special committee named to select a most feasible plan for a southern connecting link.

No Action on Bank Holding Firms Bill

Subcommittee Unanimously Against Extension This Term

Washington—(AP)—Members of a senate banking and currency subcommittee said today they had agreed "unanimously" to defer action for this session of congress on the Glass bank holding company bill.

The action has the effect of killing the bill unless there should be a special session of congress before next January when the present congress dies. To be considered by the new congress it must be reintroduced.

The measure contained provisions which President Roosevelt recently asked congress to enact this session. Senator Glass (D-Va.), author of the bill, said, however, after the subcommittee session that he opposed action at this session.

Agencies Disagree

Glass indicated controversy had developed between the federal reserve board and the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation over which federal agency should administer the legislation. As the bill now stands both agencies would be assigned duties under it.

The Virginia senator said "intense opposition" had developed to some sections of the bill, but he declined to specify which. Existing holding companies have assured him, he said, that they favored the measure. Glass said the bill would be reintroduced next session with some minor technical changes.

"The committee thought it was better to defer action because the bill can't get the detailed consideration that it should have in this session," Glass said. "I am perfectly confident that we could get action by the senate, but I don't believe there is sufficient time for the house to act on it. And I don't want to be engaged in any futile legislation."

Mother and 2 Children

Slain. Father Missing

Tampa, Fla.—(AP)—A telegram from a young woman in Pittsburgh, Pa., sent police officers to a suburban home here to find a mother and her two children slain and the father missing.

The message came yesterday from Miss Ingeborg Bunge who said she had just received a letter from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bunge, Tampa residents since February. They told her that, by the time she read the message, they and two small sisters would be dead.

Sheriff J. R. McLeod and Detective Chief W. D. Bush found the woman, listed as Mrs. Paul Friedebunge, 48, dead in a bathtub, her throat slashed. In a bedroom were two little girls, listed as Edith Ann, 9, and Nina, 5, clutching their dolls in death. Their nostrils, Bush said, had been stuffed with cotton which had been saturated with an anes-

Reelect Martens Head of County Milk Pool Unit

Other Officers Also Renamed at Annual Convention Monday

Officers of the Outagamie county unit of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool reelected officers at the annual convention yesterday at the Hortonville community hall. They are Ervin Martens, Sugar Bush, president; Ernest Bringham, North Cicero, vice president; and Ray Retzlaff, town of Center, secretary treasurer.

The officers were named by the board of directors, consisting of one member from each county local, following the close of the general convention session.

Harry Jack, Hortonville, and Ernest Springstroh, Apple Creek, were elected state board members. Springstroh and Martens were elected to Oconto June 1, 2 and 3 with Bringham and Otto Rohm, Black Creek, as alternates. The county unit voted against entering a float in the state convention parade because of the expense involved.

Ask for Change

The convention favored a change in the division of the check-off of a fourth of a cent on each pound of butter for operation of the state, county and local organizations. At the present time the state receives

Truck Drivers Strike In Wisconsin Valley

Wausau—(AP)—A general strike of truck drivers and warehousemen in the Wisconsin valley was called today following failure of conferences toward new working agreements.

Robert King, Wausau, secretary of truck drivers unions in the valley area, said about 300 men were on strike in Wausau, Antigo, Merrill, Marshfield, Stevens Point and Wisconsin Rapids. He estimated 100 truckers were idle in Wausau.

At Stevens Point workers for A. J. Shanton and company, and the Cops company, went on strike following failure to negotiate successfully over wage and seniority clauses in contracts.

Sam Pick Pleads Guilty To Gambling Charges

Waukesha—(AP)—Sam Pick, operator of the de luxe Club Madrid on Blue Mound road, pleaded guilty today in circuit court today to five counts of leasing rooms at the club for gambling and five counts of permitting use of gambling devices there.

His brother, Joseph Pick, pleaded guilty to three counts of keeping a gambling house.

Circuit Judge C. M. Davison ordered them to appear May 20 for sentencing and continued bonds of $2,500 each.

The Picks were indicted by a Waukesha county grand jury called by Judge Davison to investigate gambling and vice conditions in the night life area between here and Milwaukee.

Illinois Officials Join in Search For Four Escaped Indiana Convicts

Kankakee, Ill.—(AP)—Four long-term convicts who abducted a motorist and drove away in his sedan after escaping from the Indiana state prison at Michigan City in a freight car were hunted today in Illinois.

The kidnap victims, Melvin Breining, 23, was released unharmed two miles west of here last night. He had been forced to exchange his clothing for prison garb.

State police of Illinois and Indiana concentrated the search in eastern Illinois, between Decatur and Chicago. They were warned to take no chances, to shoot to kill.

Escape in Box Car

The felons, all with long prison records and serving terms for robbery, were Ernest Powell, 35, Ernest Grigsby, 38, Wilbur Dawson, 26, and Frank Means, 34. Their escape was discovered at the 6 p. m. check-up yesterday.

Three of the quartet apparently prepared the escape while loading

French Taxes, Armed Forces Are Increased

Daladier Orders Stronger Army, Navy and Airforce

APPROVE MORE SHIPS

Premier Outlines Program In Report to President Lebrun

Paris—(AP)—Increases in man power for all France's armed forces were ordered today by Premier Edouard Daladier, head of the "national defense" government now ruling the nation by decree.

An edict which became law this morning demands more soldiers, sailors and aviators, along with many new sacrifices from Frenchmen to enable the nation to support the cost of the modern machinery of war.

Decreases in the same series increased France's annual tax bill 4,000,000,000 francs ($120,000,000), levying a flat 8 per cent increase in all direct and hidden taxes.

Announcement of the government's intention to enroll additional fighting men was contained in the premier's report to President Albert Lebrun on a decree opening a new credit of 4,712,500,000 francs (about $141,375,000) for national defense. Daladier said this would be used for:

Use Reserve Officers

Strengthening the army by incorporating an unstated number of reserve officers into the regular service;

Increasing the navy's man power from 96,500 to 125,000 men.

Increasing the airforce man power from 44,000 to 52,500 non-commissioned officers and men.

In addition to raising the navy's man power, the decree authorizes the navy ministry to begin construction before Dec. 31, 1939, of two battleships, one cruiser, seven submarines, 14 further authorized a number of smaller auxiliary naval craft, with a total tonnage of 24,000, and five oil tankers.

The number of workers in munitions and other factories attached to the defense ministries also will be increased.

Although the decrees levied heavy imposts to meet the costs of France's effort to keep up with the world arms race, they also provided

Authorizes Complaints Against Aluminum Firms

Milwaukee—(AP)—N. S. Clark, regional director for the national labor relations board, announced yesterday the Washington, D. C., office of the board had authorized the issuance of complaints of unfair labor practices against the Aluminum Goods Manufacturing company at Manitowoc and the Connor Land and Lumber company at Laona, Wis.

Hearings will be called in both cases, Clark said.

Count for the A. F. of L. Aluminum Workers' union at the Manitowoc and Two Rivers plants of the Aluminum Goods Manufacturing company, filed charges of unfair labor practices against the company Feb. 1. The unions assert the company, which employs 2,700, is fostering a union-disregarding seniority rights clause in an agreement signed to end a strike earlier this year.

The Connor company at Laona was the scene of four days of fighting between rival A. F. of L. and CIO unionists early in March this year. The CIO disputed a closed shop agreement obtained by the A. F. of L.

BULLETIN

Philadelphia—(AP)—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals issued today an order temporarily restraining the national labor relations board from "taking any steps or proceedings" in the board's recent order against the Republic Steel corporation. The injunction prevents the board's acting further in the case until a hearing May 13 on whether the board should certify its "entire record" of testimony in the Republic case.

a box car with empty metal barrels. Auger holes had been bored nearly through a section of the car bottom. Drums were stacked around the section.

After guards had inspected and sealed the loaded box car, the convicts crawled underneath, pounded out the weakened section and entered through the narrow opening.

At 2 p. m. the car was moved outside the prison wall and shunted to a siding. There the felons dropped through the opening, raced across the spacious wooded lawn in front of the prison and then ran for almost a mile through alleys.

Breining was sitting in his sedan in front of a factory waiting for a girl friend to finish work. He was overpowered by the convicts.

Five convicts saved their way to temporary freedom from the prison last Feb. 10. Ten convicts associated with John Dillinger shot and clubbed their way out of the prison in 1933.

Fascists Prepare Greatest Welcome in Italy's History As Hitler Train Nears Rome

Forwards Bill to House For Action on Amendments

46 NEW WARSHIPS

950 Planes and 26 Auxiliary Vessels Also Provided

Rome—(AP)—Adolf Hitler arrived at Rome's Ostiense station tonight for the state visit which is to dramatize the solidarity of Europe's two great fascist states.

The German dictator's special train rolled in at 8:30 p. m. (2:30 p. m. E.S.T.) after a triumphal all-day journey across northern Italy from the Alpine barrier of the Brenner pass to the Eternal City.

Rome was prepared with a reception surpassing in size and grandeur any of the days of the Caesars.

Rome—(AP)—Adolf Hitler moved in triumph across Tuscany late today toward Rome, where fascism prepared for him the greatest welcome in Italy's history.

As the German fuhrer's 12-car special train sped southward beneath fair skies, cheering crowds and waving flags greeted him at every station.

From mid-afternoon crowds gathered at the little wayside station of Monterotondo, 15 miles out of Rome, where Premier Mussolini was expected to meet his fellow dictator and confer with him for an hour aboard his train.

It was understood that after this conference Mussolini would precede his guest to Rome in a separate train in order to be at the station to greet him.

Crossing the border at historic Brenner pass early today, the Hitler special sped from one spectacular welcome to another across northern Italy.

Two hundred locomotive whistles shrilled a salute to Hitler at Bologna, where 50,000 fascists lined the tracks into the city. A little later he was in the industrial town of Prato, where he was welcomed to Tuscany and where he stopped 8 minutes to telephone Berlin.

In Rome police intensified their already strict surveillance as a precaution against any attempt on Hitler's life. Every traveler arriving in the city was subjected to minute inspection of his baggage. Persons invited to attend the celebrations were warned against carrying cameras or packages of any kind.

High ranking emissaries welcomed Hitler when he reached Italian territory at Brenner pass for the reunion with Mussolini which is to dramatize the strength of Europe's great fascist states.

Bands played the German and Italian national anthems as the train pulled into the newly constructed railway station at Brennero, lavishly decorated with flowers and bunting.

The fuhrer was up to receive the emissaries of King Vittorio Emanuele and Mussolini sent to welcome him to Italian soil. They were the Duke of Pistoia, for the king, and Achille Starace, fascist party secretary, for the duke.

Many Soldiers

Giuseppe Bastianini, undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, represented the government.

There were small crowds but many soldiers. The 18th regiment of infantry was on the platform at

Roosevelt Wants To Keep Control Of Federal Funds

White House in Strong Opposition to Direct Appropriations

Washington—(AP)—White House objections, an informed person said today, probably will kill congressional proposals to restrict the president's discretionary powers over "pump-priming" and relief funds.

A spokesman for President Roosevelt advised a house subcommittee this informant said, that it would violate the expressed wishes of the chief executive if the practice of appropriating relief money to him were discontinued and the funds handed directly to the works progress administration and other spending agencies.

Subcommittee members virtually had decided on the latter course as a means of ending "blank check" relief expenditures.

So vigorous was the White House protest, however, that Representative Woodrum (D-Va.), in charge of the drafting the legislation, said it was probable the present system would be continued. Efforts to insert restrictions may be made by a group of senators, nevertheless.

Would Retain Control

Some subcommittee members said the president wanted to retain his control over the allocation of relief money and the approval of individual projects in order to obtain more speed and better coordination in providing jobs for the unemployed.

The subcommittee completed hearings on the huge spending-lending program yesterday by receiving endorsements from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York, head of the United States Conference of Mayors; and John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

While that trio was calling the legislation imperative because of increased unemployment, the program was assailed at the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce by Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National bank of New York.

Chevrolet Sitdown Strikers Ordered To Evacuate Plant

Bay City, Mich.—(AP)—Six hours after a group of United Automobile Workers of America members began a stay-in strike at the Chevrolet motor company plant here today, Reuben Peters, president of the Bay City UAW local, announced plans for the immediate evacuation of the factory.

The strike began this morning when a group, estimated by company officials at 100 and claimed by a union representative to number 300, chained the office and plant entrances after permitting the departure of those who desired to leave. The shift reporting this morning numbered approximately 1,200.

Employe representatives said the strike was precipitated by the failure of negotiations seeking re-statement of three discharged members and alleged violations of a seniority agreement.

At UAW headquarters in Detroit the strike was declared "unauthorized" and company officials charged it had been called without submitting the alleged grievances to the settlement procedure provided in the UAW-General Motors agreement.

Washington—(AP)—The senate approved today the administration's $1,156,000,000 naval expansion bill. The vote on final passage was 56 to 28.

The measure now goes back to the house for action on several major amendments, including a proviso to limit to 35,000 the tonnage of three battleships to be built under the measure—unless the president finds that other nations are building larger vessels.

The senate authorized total battleship tonnage of 135,000, compared with the 105,000 approved by the house. It also increased to 20,000 tons each the size of two aircraft carriers, approved at 15,000 tons each by the house.

The bill would authorize construction of 46 warships, 950 airplanes and 26 auxiliary vessels but none could be built until congress actually votes appropriations.

Senate Provisions

As approved by the senate, the bill carries authorization for a $15,000,000 appropriation for experiments with light, fast harbor defense craft. The senate cut out harbor-approved items of $3,000,000 for construction of a lighter-than-air craft and $12,000,000 for development of inventions.

Just prior to passage, the senate adopted an amendment offered by Senator Johnson (D-Colo.) which would permit the secretary of war to place "educational orders" with manufacturing concerns to familiarize them with production of munitions. Senator Walsh (D-Mont.) said the amendment would in no way affect the navy department.

A drive by senate opponents of expanded naval construction to send the administration's big navy back to a committee pigeon-hole, was halted abruptly after the chamber and senate had considerable debate on the measure.

Withdraws Motion

Senator Clark (D-Mo.), author of the recommitment move, withdrew his motion and opened the way for speedy decision on passage of the measure.

Clark moved to recommit the measure to the naval affairs committee, saying the legislation would provide for "squandering" an unknown sum of money.

The Missouriian declared it could not be ascertained whether the program would cost the $1,156,000,000 its backers have estimated, "or $1,500,000,000, $2,000,000,000 or $2,500,000,000."

Although attempting the recommitment procedure, opponents of the bill, reckoning their strength as the senate approached a vote agreed they had virtually no chance to defeat the program.

The expansion bill, approved by the house, authorizes construction of 46 warships, 950 planes and 26 auxiliary ships but none can be started until congress actually appropriates funds.

Administration leaders estimated that $22,000,000 in appropriations would be asked under the bill for the next fiscal year and slightly more than $100,000,000 annually for the next nine years.

How Senate Voted

Here is the vote by which the senate approved today the administration's $1,156,000,000 naval expansion bill:

For the bill:

No Record Found On Nearly Million Spent by Utility

Commissioner Accountant Testifies at Byllesby Company Probe

Madison—(U)—The state banking commission's inquiry into the business practices of the H. M. Byllesby and Company, investment and holding firm, disclosed today that the company had paid out approximately $448,000 in claims against it and its officers.

Forrest L. Ayer, senior accountant for the public service commission, testified that a survey of the firm's "surplus account" showed payments on some 14 claims brought by stockholders, who he said, charged in some instances that the securities sold by the company had been misrepresented. Special State Counsel William H. Spohn claimed yesterday the company concealed information regarding some of the claims.

Ayer said settlements had been made in New York, Delaware, Illinois, Massachusetts and other states. The stockholders charged in one case that the company officials had taken illegal profits from inter-company transactions, he said.

Madison—(U)—Forrest L. Ayer, senior accountant for the public service commission, testified yesterday, that the H. M. Byllesby and Company, utility investment house, spent nearly $1,000,000 from 1927 to 1930, most of which, he said, was not explained by any records.

Ayer, called by Special State Counsel William H. Spohn, gave his testimony before the banking commission which is conducting an inquiry to determine whether the company's license to sell securities in Wisconsin shall be revoked.

Ayer said the concern spent thousands of dollars in Wisconsin, California, Colorado, and Kentucky, most of which was ultimately charged to "acquisition of properties."

The witness said present officials, in the majority of instances, were unable to tell the reasons for the expenditures and to whom the money was paid.

Tells Of Payments Ayer told of the following payments to Byllesby officers for which he said he could find no record revealing the purpose of the transaction:

To the late Halford Erickson, $60,000, in 35 checks, cashed by Madison Bank, J. O'Brien, $12,500; William G. Pohl, $7,000; Paul A. Lemkuhl, $33,323.25; A. Nagelvoort, $1,000; F. A. Mendriski, $20,000; H. C. Cummins, $17,526; John F. Forbes, of San Francisco, a member of the accounting firm of Haskins and Sells, $254,000, the first payment of which was $25,000, which a voucher explained as "expenses in connection with the forthcoming referendum. He listed other payments to Samuel Kahn, $168,168.75, (Kahn was president of the Market Street Railway, San Francisco) N. S. Walpole, $64,280.10, and a further payment of $20,000 to Walpole and the W. F. Zumburn estate; R. F. Pack, then vice president of the Northern States Power company of Minnesota, $79,500; the Industrial Conservation Board, Incorporated, $11,750; Harold L. Geisse, Wausau attorney, $2,508.45, and various other items totalling $20,000, mostly for attorney fees.

Dinner Involved Ayer said $123,000 was expended in acquiring the Wisconsin Valley Electric company. Spohn claimed that a tax assessment hearing recently that William M. Dinneen, former secretary of the public service commission, received $63,500 of this sum. Ayer testified Geisse was paid $50,000; and Walter B. Heinemann, Wausau attorney, $5,000.

Company Counsel H. H. Thomas objected when Spohn asked Ayer if there was any reference to the service Dinneen was alleged to have performed. Ayer said there was none. Thomas suggested that Spohn call Dinneen for the best testimony but state counsel said he would not be called.

Catholic Youth Group Planned at Sherwood

Sherwood—A meeting was held Friday evening at Sacred Heart school hall for the young women of the parish to organize a Catholic Youth movement. Another meeting will be held at the school hall Friday evening, May 6.

WPA Recreation Leaders Launch Spring Program

Outagamie county's WPA recreation division has started its spring program and recreation leaders have been assigned to Erb and Pierce parks, Appleton: LaFollette park, Kaukauna; public school and ball field, Little Chute; fair grounds, Seymour; work shop, athletic field and old fair grounds, Hortonville, according to Hubert J. Piette, WPA recreation supervisor. At present two playgrounds are being operated and during the summer vacation two more will be put under supervised play.

The county WPA marbles tournament will be held Saturday, May 21, at Erb park. The various playgrounds champions of the county will compete and the winner and runner-up will represent the county in the district finals at Green Bay. Awards will be given to winners of all events.

Recreation leaders will be on duty from 2:30 to 6:30 each afternoon until June 5. Thereafter they will be on the playgrounds from 9 o'clock in the morning until 2 o'clock in the evening daily. Instructions for the marbles tournament may be had from the recreation leaders. At present there are 523 entries.

Softball League Boys who wish to enter a team in the city school softball league are to meet at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at Pierce park. It is expected each school will be represented with a team composed of eighth and ninth graders. A girls' league also will be organized provided there are enough entries.

Plans are being formulated for volleyball, horseshoe, tennis and table tennis tournaments during the summer months with classifications according to ages. Puppetry, arts and crafts and rhythm bands will be encouraged more this season than in the past, Piette said.

The softball feud between the Erb park and Pierce park teams has already started with the Pierce parkers taking the first game Saturday 19 to 5. Zion Lutheran also defeated the Erb park squad last week by an 11 to 9 count.

Union of Chinese Factions And Guerilla Warfare are Lowering Japanese Morale

BY MORGAN M. BEATTY

Washington—(U)—When it became pretty clear that the Japanese army was having no picnic in North China, I went to one of the few men in the United States who knows his Far East like a book.

"What's the meaning of all this Chinese resistance?" I asked, expecting a tolerant smile and a long-winded, high-sounding discussion of military strategy and economics.

"Why," said he, "it's as simple as pouring water out of a boot. Anybody who has carefully studied the war in the Far East expected the Japanese to get tangled up pretty soon. They tripped over their sword, as it were, a little earlier than necessary."

As simple as that, eh? And it is. Here, he said, are the reasons why the Japanese lost the battle of Tai'erchewang—and further—the reasons why they can't take North China like the Japanese beetle took New Jersey.

1. Nationalist China's leader, Chiang Kai-shek, definitely has ended his 10-year feud with the Communists.

Fanciers Vote to Sponsor Dog Show

Arrangements to be Completed at Kennel Club Meeting May 26

Directors of the Northeastern Wisconsin Kennel club last night voted to sponsor a licensed dog show this summer at a special meeting at Oshkosh.

Four cities including Green Bay, Sheboygan, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac offered to provide a place for the show and each location will be investigated by a committee headed by Stanley Whitaker, Oshkosh.

Dr. John E. Rogers, president, was named chairman of a committee to contact superintendents of other shows in the state this summer to arrange a date that will not conflict with other shows. Otis Hayes, Neenah, will contact cities sponsoring shows.

Final arrangements for the dog show will be completed at a regular meeting of the Kennel club at Fond du Lac May 26.

Attending last night's meeting from Appleton were Harold Brautigan and Dr. L. H. Dillon. Norman Nye and Otis Hayes represented Neenah at the meeting.

20 Girls Register for High School Play Day

About 20 girls have registered to date to participate in the annual Appleton High school Play Day, May 14, sponsored by the Girls Athletic association. All types of intramural games will be played by the girls under the direction of Miss Helen Gilman.

Appleton will send the following delegates to the state-wide play day at Stevens Point Saturday: Gladys Froger, Ethel Melcher, Rita Merkel, Florence Stadler, Jean Thomas, Marian Lons, Margaret Albrecht, Jean Cavert, Mary Watson and Grace Watson.

Pre-Graduation Events, Outdoor Activities Coming This Month

Appleton will be host to a state convention this month, that of the Wisconsin Federation of Music Clubs May 12 and 13, and together with the rest of the nation it will observe Mother's day next Sunday and Memorial day May 30. Annual meetings will keep a large share of the citizenry busy, and to the college community, the month brings the round of parties and social affairs that always precede commencement.

Last night the Appleton Junior and Senior High school orchestras performed for parents at Lawrence Memorial chapel under the direction of Jay L. Williams, and tonight the chapel will be the scene of address by Howard Scott, New York, director-in-chief of Technocracy, Inc.

Five new members took their places on the Outagamie county board when it went into session today. Standing committees and a chairman will be named.

Tomorrow night the Appleton branch of the American Association of University Women will close its 1937-38 season with a meeting at the home of Mrs. George Banta, Jr., Menasha. Miss Helen Wells of the Chicago Art Institute staff will speak on "Who Sets the Fashions?"

Scheduled for Thursday of this week are the annual concert of the Appleton Women's club chorus, assisted by the Appleton High school string ensemble at the club house; a talk on the troop budget plan by John Triplett of the Boy Scouts of America office at New York City before Valley council scouts; and the annual costume party for senior women at Lawrence college, to be given by Miss Ruth Cope, dean of women at the college.

On the following night, May 6, the Appleton Yacht club will entertain at a benefit dance at Terrace Gardens, and on Saturday, May 7, John F. Rose chapter, Order of De Molay, will give a spring ball at the Masonic temple. Another of the many parties planned for the month is the Knights of Columbus annual May ball May 10 at Elks hall. Riverview Country club will be the scene of the P. E. O. Sisterhood's tea May 20, at which chapters of nearby cities will be guests, and of the Century club's dinner-dance May 24.

A wildlife, floral and parks exhibit is scheduled for May 13, 14 and 15 at Pierce park under the auspices of the city council, county board and 21 civic, fraternal and service organizations. F. M. For is general chairman. The exhibit will be augmented on May 15 by Appleton's third annual dog show, sponsored by the Appleton chapter of the Izaak Walton league, also at Pierce park.

Woman's Club Banquet Annual meetings include the banquet of the Appleton Women's club May 12 at the Heathstone Tea room, with Dr. M. S. Benjamin, Milwaukee, speaking on "Your English" and the yearly session of the Appleton Apostolate May 19, with Bishop Paul R. Rhode of Green Bay as the speaker.

Of interest to Boy Scout leaders are the cubbers conference May 14 and 15 and the scouts conference May 21 and 22, both to take place at Gardner Dam.

The American Legion will dedicate its new clubhouse May 16 and sponsor Poppy day on May 28.

A 3-act play, "Ladies of the Jury," will be presented by the Little Theater of the Fox River Valley May 19 and 20 at the Outagamie county courthouse. May 20 is also the date of the all-college sing at Lawrence, inaugurated last year as an annual event, and of the tea the Campus club will give for the college graduating class.

High school events this month include the senior "vodvil" May 11, directed by Miss Ruth McKennan. About 100 students will take part. Proceeds will buy gold keys and pins for students elected to the national honor society. The high school band and orchestra, directed by E. C. Moore and Jay L. Williams, respectively, will participate in music festivals at New London May 7 and 14. May 18 Appleton teachers will give a farewell party for Miss Carrie Morgan, secretary of the school board, who resigned last Wednesday.

Popularity Contest The popularity queens contest sponsored by the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce in connection with its Half the Life of the Nation Civic celebration opens May 28.

Featuring sports activities this month is the opening of the baseball season in this section and the tennis season. The high school track, golf and tennis meets with which Appleton High school and Lawrence college are winding up the year's athletic program.

Tomorrow afternoon Lawrence and Ripon will compete here in track, golf and tennis, and on May 6 Lawrence will enter most of its track squad in the Beloit relays at Beloit. On the same day Appleton High school will meet West Green Bay at Green Bay in a dual meet.

On May 8 the Northern State league, the Fox River Valley league and the Wolf River Valley league will begin their season's play, and on May 9 and 10 Appleton's four city softball leagues will have their first games. The leagues are the American, American City, Fraternal and Church.

Track Meets Scheduled for May 14 is a dual meet between Lawrence college and Beloit college at Beloit, and on the same day Appleton, Neenah and Oshkosh High schools will engage in a triangular meet at Neenah. Appleton also will enter teams in the Fox River valley conference relays at Fond du Lac May 21.

All Midwest conference track and field meet, held only once every seven years, will take place May 21 at Whiting field. Teams from Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin will compete, and Lawrence is given a fair chance of winning the championship. On May 28 Lawrence will compete at Waukesha in the annual state college track and field meet. Appleton High school probably will enter a few boys in the state Class A track and field meet at Madison.

All this week the United States Camera Salon is on exhibit at Lawrence college library.

Final examinations will be held in the county rural schools the latter part of the month.

Chairmen for Air Mail Week Named Today by Balliet

Mayor Goodland Honorary Head; Celebration May 15-22

Chairmen for National Air Mail Week which will be celebrated in the city as part of the nation-wide observance May 15-22 were announced today by Postmaster Stephen Balliet, county chairman.

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., is honorary chairman. Others are as follows: Ray H. Eichelberger, retailers; Richard W. Mahony, manufacturers; John R. Riedl, publicity; Harold Thurber, radio; Stanley A. Gross, theater; George A. Schmidt, catcher and stamp; Herman L. Schneider, air mail pickup.

Appleton High school students have been invited to participate in essay and poster contests sponsored by the United States postal department to heighten interest in air mail.

Appleton will be included on one of the nine feeder lines which will carry mail to Milwaukee from the state and Northern Michigan on Thursday, May 19, to Milwaukee. John A. Fleissner of Milwaukee is state chairman.

Citizens of the city are being encouraged to send air mail letters on the plane which will stop at the Outagamie county airport on that day. Each letter sent from the city will bear a special stamp now being designed under the direction of George A. Schmidt.

The purpose of National Air Mail week is to intensify the American people's consciousness of aviation and air mail and to commemorate the twentieth anniversary of the inauguration of air mail service.

Paul R. Yountz, postmaster at Charlotte, N. C., national chairman. It was at Kitty Hawk near Charlotte where the Wright brothers made their first airplane flight.

11 Traffic Accidents Reported During April

Eleven accidents, a decrease of almost half the number for the same month last year, were reported in Appleton during April, according to a report of Sergeant Carl Radtke, head of the police traffic division. No fatal accidents occurred in the city last month while two were reported in April of 1937. Three persons were injured in the accidents reported last month while eight crashes involved property damage. Three accidents occurred on arterials, eight at intersections, seven during daylight and four at night. Twenty-one accidents were reported in April 1937.

city softball leagues will have their first games. The leagues are the American, American City, Fraternal and Church.

Reelect Martens Head of County Milk Pool Unit

50 per cent with the county and local units each receiving 25 per cent. A resolution adopted asks that the local unit receive 50 per cent and the state and county getting 25 per cent each.

The county unit also adopted a resolution asking that the state convention be cut from three to two days to lower expenses and to promote better attendance. A resolution asking that the state convention be held in November instead of June was defeated.

That the cooperative movement has increased milk by 12 cents per 100 pounds was the statement of Harry Jack, Hortonville, state president of the milk pool and the convention speaker, in a talk on advantages of a cooperative Monday afternoon.

Cites Pool's History He outlined the history of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool for Hortonville High school students who are studying cooperative movements. The class was in attendance at Jack's speech. He said the milk pool movement started with the milk strike about five years ago to bring about better milk prices for the farmers.

First attempts at marketing the milk products in the east proved unsuccessful and the milk pool then engaged a representative at Chicago to market them, Jack related. The milk pool again began marketing its own products last July and this system is now in successful operation, the state president claimed.

"Destroy the cooperative movement and you will go back to where you were a few years ago with the possibility of still lower prices," Jack declared in speaking of the value of the movement. "The cooperative movement, while severely criticized by some who do not understand it, is the farmer's protection. It doesn't deny any man who is rightfully his but does prevent concentration of power in a few small groups over large ones."

Hits At Chiselers "Give your first thought and consideration to your organization," he continued in speaking of chiselers. "They are undermining the state dairy industry by their dishonesty and greed."

The Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool has shown that cheese of improved quality will bring better prices, Jack stated. The state department of agriculture and markets also has taken action to meet competition of other states which label cheese of 25 per cent butterfat as standard. Under a new order such cheese under the Wisconsin brand will bear label No. 1 with the higher quality cheese with label No. 2, the state president said.

Supervisory graders are to be named by the department, he said, and they will be rotated about the state to prevent unfair practices. After full information has been given concerning the order, those guilty of unfair practices will be vigorously prosecuted, he said.

Consider Plan One suggestion being considered by the state department is the setting up of a temporary price fixing committee composed of three cheese dealers and three farmers with a statistician to compile information concerning prices, feed and storage conditions. Jack, who is the new head of the state department of agriculture and markets, revealed.

"The only yardstick for cheese prices is production and consumption," he said. "Prices based on production cost alone would soon cause

Officers Lack Power To Move Parked Cars To Police Station

Madison—(U)—Attorney General O. S. Loomis ruled today that traffic officers in Wisconsin have no power to remove an illegally parked automobile to a police station and charge the cost against the owner.

He rendered the opinion to District Attorney Clarence J. Dorschel, of Brown county.

Loomis said a traffic policeman should act in a reasonable manner in carrying out the statute on illegal parking. He added: "It cannot be said, in the absence of legislation permitting it, that a vehicle may be taken to a police station when the danger created by its position on the highway can be eliminated by moving it to another place out of traffic. We find no such authority and believe it should not be done."

FHA Meeting Is Slated for May 9

Former Governor Schmiedeman Will Lead Discussion at Courthouse

A discussion of the method of making loans under the Federal Housing Administration will be led by A. G. Schmiedeman, state FHA director and former governor of Wisconsin at a meeting at the Outagamie county courthouse at 7:30 Monday evening, May 9. Postmaster Stephen Balliet said today. Bankers, contractors, supply men, and persons interested in obtaining loans for building homes or improving those already standing are invited to attend the public meeting. Balliet said. Besides Schmiedeman, heads of subsidiary FHA offices in the state will be present.

"There have been numerous requests made at the post office for information on the FHA," Balliet said today. "This meeting is being called to aid persons interested in taking advantage of the plan."

Education Association Will Name New Officers

Old and new council members of the Appleton Education association will meet at 4:30 this afternoon at Appleton High school. Officers for next year will be elected.

warehouses in the state to be filled."

R. C. Swanson, county agricultural agent, gave a short talk in which he lauded the purpose of cooperatives. He said they have been a means for securing better prices for products although some independents won't join but still reap the benefits of the increased return for products.

Roland Jack Presides The convention opened in the morning and Roland Jack, route 1, Hortonville, was named convention chairman. B. J. Olk, Hortonville village president, gave the address of welcome.

Members of the Hortonville Women's Relief corps and the American Legion auxiliary served dinner at noon and supper in the evening. A dance Monday night closed the convention.

The Hortonville High school orchestra entertained the milk pool members before the opening of the afternoon session.

Fascists Prepare Greatest Welcome in Italy's History As Hitler Train Nears Rome

Brennero, along with squadrons of artillery, Alpine troops, black shirt militia and fascist youth.

A second train, carrying Rudolph Hess, Dr. Joseph Goebbels and others of the German party, followed through the pass shortly after Hitler's train departed toward Bolzano.

The fuhrer travelled through a region peopled by 250,000 folk of teutonic blood. Austrians ceded to Italy after the war.

Ironically, the fuhrer, who stands for the union of all Germans in one great Germany, has assured Mussolini he never will seek to extend his frontiers beyond the Brenner, so these Tyroleans are not included in the present scheme of things.

Take Day Off From the border to Rome, millions of Italians took the day off to crowd into vantage points to watch Hitler pass, or to follow his journey by radio.

Peasant costumes from all parts of Italy brightened the throngs, gathered especially for tonight's procession (about 1:45 p. m., C.S.T.) through torch-lighted streets from the station to the quirinale palace, where the fuhrer is to be guest of the king.

It is the third meeting between Mussolini and Hitler, and the Italian press welcomed the German head of state with lavish praise.

Poppy Day Poster Contest Under Way In Public Schools

Oney Johnston Legion Post and Auxiliary Sponsoring Project

A contest for posters depicting the spirit and purposes of Poppy Day, which will be held May 28, is being sponsored by the Oney Johnston Post of the American Legion and the auxiliary in Appleton public schools. The contest will close May 20.

There are two divisions of the contest, one for pupils from the sixth through the ninth grades and another for those from the tenth through the twelfth grades. Local winners will compete in a state contest. State winners will be announced at the legion convention in Ashland this summer and they in turn will compete for a national award, a $200 scholarship.

The committee for the auxiliary which has announced the contest in public schools is composed of Mrs. George Culligan, chairman, Mrs. Herb Farrand, Mrs. Stanley Staidl, and Mrs. H. W. Miller. Judges in the contest will be Mrs. Mark Catlin, Sr., Mrs. James Fritzen, past president of James Hawley American Legion auxiliary at Neenah, and Judge Thomas H. Ryan.

Posters will be displayed on the downtown streets of Appleton a week before Poppy Day. The poppies which will be sold here are made by disabled World war veterans in government hospitals and veterans homes.

Townsend Will Not Join LaFollette Third Party

Under the CAPITOLDOME

BY JOHN W. WYNGAARD

Madison—Now that the sound and the fury attending the birth of the new National Progressive party has receded, the capitol is settling down to make some pertinent observations on Governor Phil's rendezvous with the destiny of his own creation.

The word has gotten out, for example, that Leader LaFollette was far from satisfied with the response to his oratory at the party's christening at the stock pavilion last Thursday night. A prominent state liberal who accompanied the governor to his home after the meeting reported to friends that he was keenly disappointed, that he expected a more demonstrative crowd to applaud the mightiest oratorical effort of his life.

Then there is the reaction within the Progressive party itself. While, of course, there has been no split, it is plain that some important figures and some rank and file elements are lukewarm if not actually dissatisfied.

PRESIDENTIAL BUG?

This feeling, covert as it is, can be classified in three ways. First are those who resent the governor's summary repudiation of the national administration. It smacks of ingratitude and shortsightedness, they feel. In the words of William T. Egan, who despite the executive office satellites has a considerable following in the Progressive party, they will still "string along with Roosevelt".

Then there is a feeling among others of the governor's followers that the new party is primarily a vehicle for his own ambition, and only secondarily an organ of liberal revolt. In the sotto voce comment of one party man, the new party is being steered from the top, and the top is LaFollette alone. This sentiment gathers strength from the grumbling of the Minnesota Farmer-Laborites and others, who now ask, "Why weren't we consulted?"

Thirdly there are the idealists in the party, the intellectual fringe, who ask doubtfully whether the governor's eloquent generalizations on the ills of the nation are a practical basis for a new party. A true liberal party demands a cause, a great issue, to which dissatisfied voters can rally. And it needs a specific, uncompromising program, which the governor's party has yet to offer. That program, say these liberal protestants, will not attract W. R. Hearst, who is now saying kind things about LaFollette "Americanism".

PROGRESSIVE VIGNETTES

New Dealers in the LaFollette audiences this summer will hear familiar phrases: "We have enlisted for the duration of the war," "economic royalists," "one third of the nation, ill clothed, ill housed, and ill fed".

Chief advisor and tactical assistant in the LaFollette march into the national political spotlight is tall, thin and grizzled A. W. Zeratsky. He continues in his old role as the political organizer, and has taken over the position of Thomas Duncan, who has now completely disappeared from the picture as a diplomat and strategist.

ABOVE THE FIREPLACE

Above the fireplace in the executive mansion library hangs a big portrait of the President. It bears the inscription: "To my good friend, Phil LaFollette." Will it remain there now?

Persons familiar with the inner history of the Progressive movement are now recalling that events of the last few days are fulfilling the wishes of the party's founder, the late Senator LaFollette Sr.

In the eyes of his son, young Phil LaFollette, since boyhood was the heir to the throne. He was trained for statecraft and for the succession. Young Bob, in poor health during his youth, was not considered.

But the untimely death cut through these plans. In 1925 young Phil lacked the constitutional age requirements to succeed his father in the United States senate. Belle Case LaFollette, the founder's strong-willed widow, dictated the nomination of her other son. And so Bob held the place that his father meant Phil to have.

Today, 14 years after his father, Phil begins the road his father traveled, and succeeds him as head of the party.

WORRY AT HOME

While their chief drives toward a national organization, the practical boys who fill out the Progressive ticket in the home districts make no secret of their very real worry about the state elections this fall.

Most of them do not hesitate in admitting that they will feel a lot more comfortable with the name of LaFollette above their own names on the ticket. Progressives twice failed without that magic touch, they recall, once with Herman L. Ekers, one of the ablest men the party has yet produced, and again with Joseph Beck.

With the prospects of a merry battle in some of the legislative districts, and with worrisome letters coming into the executive offices almost daily, the mystery of the governor's own intentions this fall continues. Odds remain, however, that he will make the unprecedented run for a fourth term as governor, which should place the Republicans and Coalitionists, at least, who are predicating their whole campaign on a vigorous anti-LaFollette "dictatorship" argument.

ODDS AND ENDS

There is a very real feeling among the executive office employees that they are participating in an historical movement. "Some day we'll all be in Washington", one of them said the other day. Employees of the governor's office are all faithful party workers, down to the messenger and office boys. Some of the clerical help has been with the LaFollette family for decades, such as Mabel Griswold and Lillian MacCarthy, confidential secretaries.

Be A Safe Driver

Bernard Tillman, route 1, Appleton, is recovering at St. Elizabeth hospital following a major operation last week.

20,000 Grads Will Get Invitations to Reunion

Madison—(P)—President Clarence A. Dykstra of the University of Wisconsin said today invitations would be sent to 20,000 Wisconsin alumni to attend class reunions during the eighty-fifth annual commencement week.

The commencement exercises run from Friday through Monday, June 17-20. Class reunions will be held on Alumni day, June 18.

A. John Berge, executive secretary of the alumni association, is chairman of the committee in charge. It also includes other alumni and faculty members.

Madison—(P)—Established at the recent Great Lakes conference for the purpose of dealing with the problems of commercial fishing on Lake Michigan, a special committee of the Council of State Governments will meet in Chicago May 6 to consider specific proposed legislation to be adopted by Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin, it has been announced.

Each state will send two representatives to the committee meeting. One of Wisconsin's delegates will be Theodore Dammann, secretary of state and head of the Wisconsin Commission on Interstate cooperation. The second will probably be Assemblyman Frank N. Grass of Sturgeon Bay, the legislature's commercial fishing expert.

Madison—(P)—While Progressives and their adventure in the national field took most of the headlines and popular attention during the last week, Wisconsin Republicans remain inactive on their own big objective, a victory campaign for the state offices this year.

Governor LaFollette's bold new political thrust leaves the Republican camp strangely unexcited in Wisconsin. Sentiment appears to be split in two directions. Some Republicans feel that the LaFollette movement may gather strength in the Middlewest, but that it must end in failure as did the famed "Bull Moose" revolt against the regular Republicans in 1912. Others are satisfied that any followers the Progressives may pick up will be taken from the Democratic ranks, so that the Republicans will benefit.

In Wisconsin some Republicans feel the LaFollette move probably will lose much of the liberal Democratic support which has been given to the Progressive state ticket in recent years.

Plan Convention

Summary desertion of the New Deal leaves many Roosevelt supporters resentful. It is reported, so that they are likely to vote in their own party column this fall. That the Republicans may say among themselves, is fine. For any Progressive votes lost means a relative strengthening of the Republican position in the forthcoming state struggle.

While the capital was engrossed in Progressive affairs last week, Edward J. Samp and others of the state O. P. leadership continued their organization work in up-state counties. This week Samp's committee plans a meeting to finish details of the state convention, which is scheduled for June 1 and 2.

Leading contender for the convention site is Appleton, which has already been endorsed by a sub-committee of the regular committee. The power of final selection, however, rests with Samp's group, although Appleton seems likely to be chosen. Its rivals are Fond du Lac and LaCrosse, both of whom have entertained the party convention in recent years.

Heinemann Will Hear Probate Cases May 10

Probate cases will be heard by Judge Fred W. Heinemann at a special term of county court on Tuesday, May 10. The cases include hearings on the wills of Gustavus E. Milder and Frank Deimer, hearings on final account in the estates of Fred Schmidt, Joseph T. Schnerick, Sarah C. Wolf, W. B. Basing and Arthur W. Beckley.

Gets Permit to Spend $200 for New Sun Porch

A permit to construct a sun porch on his home was given to James Richmond, 1022 E. Vine street, Monday by the city building inspector. The addition will be 7 by 18 feet and is estimated to cost $200.

Howard Nichols, 403 N. Wood street, was given a permit to construct a double garage on his property. The garage will be 12 by 20 feet. Cost is estimated at $150.

Village Tax Rates Usually are Below Their True Values

Madison—Villages in the Appleton area, like those in most other sections of Wisconsin, are placing low valuations on the real property within their boundaries, compilation of tax figures of 362 Wisconsin villages showed today.

Although the tax commission takes note of a tendency toward higher tax rates in villages in recent years, due to increasing relief costs and recent exemptions on new real estate improvements, Wisconsin villages last year assessed real property at an average of only $7.92 of true value as determined by commission supervisors of assessments.

Here are figures on assessed valuation of all property, and the ratio of assessed valuation to true value, in all the villages in the vicinity of Appleton. Figures are by the state tax commission:

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Wisconsin's vocational education system is Wisconsin's answer to the vital problem posed by the machine age, George P. Hambrecht, state director of vocational and adult education, declared in a message as he called attention today to an executive proclamation naming the current week

"Vocational and Adult Education Week"

At the same time the Wisconsin program meets the challenge of Abraham Lincoln, who said that "Educated people must labor", according to Hambrecht who is leading plans for a state-wide observance of Wisconsin's advanced system of vocational and adult training this week.

Part of the observance, it has been announced, will be conference at Wausau Thursday, Friday and Saturday which all those engaged in vocational education and guidance in Wisconsin will attend.

First in County

Wisconsin was the first state in the union to provide, on a state-wide basis, for the establishment of schools for vocational and adult education to meet the needs of the out-of-school group for continuing training in their work, Hambrecht points out. When these part-time schools were established more than a quarter of a century ago, however, they also were intended to provide for the general and cultural as well as the strictly vocational training of this broad group of the state's citizens.

Wisconsin thus recognized, says the state director, "that life is more than just earning a living; and sought to help the worker not only to make a better living, but also to live a better and richer life."

"That is why we find our schools of vocational and adult education in certain cities taking the responsibility for putting music into the lives of the workers; cultivating the powers of appreciation and creation of beauty through classes in the arts and crafts; leading the out of school group in the study of literature which seeks to express the changing ideas and motives of the times; providing physical recreation for those who desire it; gathering groups together for discussion of the current problems of government and economic life which closely affect their own well-being and the well-being of their families," according to Hambrecht.

Hold Man Charged With Passing Bogus Nickels

Milwaukee—(P)—Federal Judge F. A. Geiger Monday ordered William King, 20, a transient held under $1,000 bond on a charge of possession and passing counterfeit nickels in Brown and Outagamie counties. King was indicted by the federal grand jury here April 21. He was arrested at Black Creek a month ago.

New Third Party Leaves Wisconsin Republicans Cold

LaFollette Thrust Fails to Excite G. O. P.

Ranks in State

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—While Progressives and their adventure in the national field took most of the headlines and popular attention during the last week, Wisconsin Republicans remain inactive on their own big objective, a victory campaign for the state offices this year.

Governor LaFollette's bold new political thrust leaves the Republican camp strangely unexcited in Wisconsin. Sentiment appears to be split in two directions. Some Republicans feel that the LaFollette movement may gather strength in the Middlewest, but that it must end in failure as did the famed "Bull Moose" revolt against the regular Republicans in 1912. Others are satisfied that any followers the Progressives may pick up will be taken from the Democratic ranks, so that the Republicans will benefit.

In Wisconsin some Republicans feel the LaFollette move probably will lose much of the liberal Democratic support which has been given to the Progressive state ticket in recent years.

Plan Convention

Summary desertion of the New Deal leaves many Roosevelt supporters resentful. It is reported, so that they are likely to vote in their own party column this fall. That the Republicans may say among themselves, is fine. For any Progressive votes lost means a relative strengthening of the Republican position in the forthcoming state struggle.

While the capital was engrossed in Progressive affairs last week, Edward J. Samp and others of the state O. P. leadership continued their organization work in up-state counties. This week Samp's committee plans a meeting to finish details of the state convention, which is scheduled for June 1 and 2.

Leading contender for the convention site is Appleton, which has already been endorsed by a sub-committee of the regular committee. The power of final selection, however, rests with Samp's group, although Appleton seems likely to be chosen. Its rivals are Fond du Lac and LaCrosse, both of whom have entertained the party convention in recent years.

Heinemann Will Hear Probate Cases May 10

Probate cases will be heard by Judge Fred W. Heinemann at a special term of county court on Tuesday, May 10. The cases include hearings on the wills of Gustavus E. Buchanan and Ernestina Bohman, hearing on administration in the estate of James F. Griffith, hearings on claims in the estates of Mrs. H. G. Milder and Frank Deimer, hearings on final account in the estates of Fred Schmidt, Joseph T. Schnerick, Sarah C. Wolf, W. B. Basing and Arthur W. Beckley.

Gets Permit to Spend $200 for New Sun Porch

A permit to construct a sun porch on his home was given to James Richmond, 1022 E. Vine street, Monday by the city building inspector. The addition will be 7 by 18 feet and is estimated to cost $200.

Howard Nichols, 403 N. Wood street, was given a permit to construct a double garage on his property. The garage will be 12 by 20 feet. Cost is estimated at $150.

Village Tax Rates Usually are Below Their True Values

Madison—Villages in the Appleton area, like those in most other sections of Wisconsin, are placing low valuations on the real property within their boundaries, compilation of tax figures of 362 Wisconsin villages showed today.

Although the tax commission takes note of a tendency toward higher tax rates in villages in recent years, due to increasing relief costs and recent exemptions on new real estate improvements, Wisconsin villages last year assessed real property at an average of only $7.92 of true value as determined by commission supervisors of assessments.

Here are figures on assessed valuation of all property, and the ratio of assessed valuation to true value, in all the villages in the vicinity of Appleton. Figures are by the state tax commission:

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Wisconsin's vocational education system is Wisconsin's answer to the vital problem posed by the machine age, George P. Hambrecht, state director of vocational and adult education, declared in a message as he called attention today to an executive proclamation naming the current week

"Vocational and Adult Education Week"

At the same time the Wisconsin program meets the challenge of Abraham Lincoln, who said that "Educated people must labor", according to Hambrecht who is leading plans for a state-wide observance of Wisconsin's advanced system of vocational and adult training this week.

Part of the observance, it has been announced, will be conference at Wausau Thursday, Friday and Saturday which all those engaged in vocational education and guidance in Wisconsin will attend.

First in County

Wisconsin was the first state in the union to provide, on a state-wide basis, for the establishment of schools for vocational and adult education to meet the needs of the out-of-school group for continuing training in their work, Hambrecht points out. When these part-time schools were established more than a quarter of a century ago, however, they also were intended to provide for the general and cultural as well as the strictly vocational training of this broad group of the state's citizens.

Wisconsin thus recognized, says the state director, "that life is more than just earning a living; and sought to help the worker not only to make a better living, but also to live a better and richer life."

"That is why we find our schools of vocational and adult education in certain cities taking the responsibility for putting music into the lives of the workers; cultivating the powers of appreciation and creation of beauty through classes in the arts and crafts; leading the out of school group in the study of literature which seeks to express the changing ideas and motives of the times; providing physical recreation for those who desire it; gathering groups together for discussion of the current problems of government and economic life which closely affect their own well-being and the well-being of their families," according to Hambrecht.

Hold Man Charged With Passing Bogus Nickels

Milwaukee—(P)—Federal Judge F. A. Geiger Monday ordered William King, 20, a transient held under $1,000 bond on a charge of possession and passing counterfeit nickels in Brown and Outagamie counties. King was indicted by the federal grand jury here April 21. He was arrested at Black Creek a month ago.

NOTICE

The following members of the Outagamie County Medical Society have agreed to close their offices Saturday afternoons and evenings from May 1st to Nov. 1st, 1938. Offices will however, be open during the noon hour on Saturday until 1 P. M.

David Carlson Is Named President Of Appleton Lions

New Head of Club Will Begin Duties July 1. Succeeding Holstrom

David M. Carlson was elected president of the Appleton Lions club yesterday to succeed Carl Holstrom. Carlson and the other new officers will assume their duties July 1. The election was held following the club's noon luncheon at the Conway hotel.

Other officers named yesterday are William L. Crow, first vice president; Franklin C. Jesse, third vice president; Ben Land, treasurer; Herman Franck, lion tamer; Dewey Zwicker, tail twister; Henry Tillman, assistant tail twister; Harry Hoefel and James Powers, directors-at-large.

Plans for the Northwest Territory celebration which the Lions will sponsor here July 21 were sketched yesterday at the meeting. William L. Crow presented the historical background for the celebration and W. E. Smith described the local historical features that will attend the pageant here. Erik Madisen informed the club of arrangements that have been made to have the group of 40 players present the pageant.

The colonial caravan, which left Massachusetts last December, is now on its westward trek, appearing at cities which have agreed to sponsor the pageant. The eight episodes in the establishment of the Northwest Territory will be presented, with 114 characters taking part.

George Johnson is chairman for the celebration.

DEATHS

Bearers were Julius Semrow, Fred Hass, John Kuse, Henry Bickel, Henry Krause, and Herman Jens.

APPROVE BILLS

Bills amounting to approximately $300 were allowed by the county highway committee yesterday at the courthouse. The committee discussed road maintenance work for the summer and conducted other routine business.

CALLED TO GARAGE

Firemen were called to the Auto Sales garage, 124 E. Washington street, at 1:40 this afternoon when a rubbish fire spread to a garage wall. Minor damage was reported.

GETS BUILDING PERMIT

A permit to remodel his garage was given to Charles Emrich, 339 N. Clark street, this morning by the city building inspector. Cost of remodeling is estimated at $25.

Chamberlain Trying to End Disputes Between Germany and Czechoslovakia

London.—(U)—With Anglo-Italian friendship officially sealed by house of commons approval, Prime Minister Chamberlain turned today to Berlin and Praha in an effort to get the Czechs and Germans to shake hands.

The first step in the approach to Praha, in an effort to settle the clamor for self-government by nazis among the 3,500,000 German minority, was taken in a lengthy conference yesterday between Jan Masaryk, the Czech minister to London, and Viscount Halifax, foreign minister.

Observers said Masaryk would inform his government today that the British government's belief that compromise was necessary.

Britain with French collaboration, likewise hopes by diplomatic means to get German aid in asking the sudeten nazi leader, Konrad Henlein, to modify his demands to the Czech government.—(for a change in the Czech foreign policy, serving from alliance with France to friendship toward Germany and for full political concessions to the German Czechs.)

NEW LIONS HEAD

The Appleton Lions club elected David M. Carlson president at a meeting yesterday. He will take office July 1, replacing Carl Holstrom.

Mercury Reaches 84 Degrees Today

Showers and Local Thunderstorms Predicted For This Area

High humidity and a temperature that hit 84 degrees at 1:30 this afternoon caused residents of Appleton and vicinity to complain about the heat today and wonder at what August will bring.

The prediction for showers and local thunderstorms, which was made yesterday and which early this afternoon still remained a prediction, was issued again today by the Milwaukee weather bureau. Cooler weather will accompany the rain, the bureau stated.

For the 24-hour period pending at 9 o'clock this morning, the highest temperature in the city was 80 and the lowest 54, according to charts at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company plant.

Amarillo, Tex., with 90 degrees, and Winnemucco, Nev., with 30, were the hottest and coldest cities respectively in the nation yesterday.

Fire Destroys Old Church Building in The Town of Bovina

Fire believed to have started from lightning destroyed an old church building in the town of Bovina, about four miles southeast of Shiocton, about 1:30 last night. Loss is estimated at $700.

The structure was owned by Leon Kennedy, town of Bovina, who purchased it about 15 years ago after its use as a church was discontinued. Destroyed with the building were about four tons of baled hay, some lumber and feed. There was no insurance, Kennedy said.

The Shiocton fire department was called by neighbors who noticed the flames after a bolt of lightning appeared close to the structure. Firemen prevented the flames from spreading to nearby buildings.

The church was built about 52 years ago by the men of the parish. The first pastor was the Rev. Frank Dexter, who now is at Union Grove. Parishioners began attending church at Shiocton about 15 years ago when the building became dilapidated.

Three Persons Fined For Reckless Driving

Three persons, arrested by county police, pleaded guilty of reckless driving and each was fined $10 and costs with an alternative of 20 days in the county detention camp by Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court yesterday afternoon. Paul Knapstein, New London, and William Newman, Readfield, were arrested at Hortonville on April 29. Lyle George Pfeiffer, Green Bay, was apprehended in the town of Maple Creek on April 23.

CASE ADJUDICATED

Joseph Martin Hensel, Sabieski, pleaded guilty of operating a truck without having it licensed when he appeared before Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court yesterday afternoon. The case was adjourned for two weeks and Hensel was ordered to apply immediately for a license.

ANSWER ALARM

Firemen were called to the Gibson garage, 211-213 W. College avenue, at 8:30 last night when some gasoline being used to clean grease from the floor ignited. No damage resulted.

Union Boycott on Plywood Products To Begin Tonight

Launched in Effort to Force Labor Contract With New London Firm

New London.—A union boycott of products of the American Plywood corporation of this city was launched last night by the Plywood and Veneer Workers, local 2890, American Federation of Labor affiliate, in an effort to force the corporation to sign a labor contract with the union.

F. L. Zaugg and Harold Zaugg, officials of the company who were questioned at noon today, declined to comment on the situation other than to say the company would take no action.

Wallace Shirland, chairman of the union negotiations committee, notified the company of the action this morning. The company has until tonight to accede to union demands, he said, otherwise the boycott will have progressed too far for withdrawal.

The action climaxes efforts of the union to secure an agreement since March 23. After several alterations and revisions a final contract was submitted to the company last Friday according to the bargaining committee.

The decision to boycott instead of striking was voted last week at a meeting of the entire local, numbering nearly 200 members, but action on the decision was withheld until another meeting last night. The boycott procedure was explained at the meeting and put into operation immediately afterwards last night by Jay A. Hathaway, Milwaukee, vice president of the Wisconsin State Council of Carpenters.

Through the state council and the national office of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, parent union of the Plywood and Veneer Workers local, union officials said it was possible to stop nearly all orders of American Plywood products within 24 hours. Orders of Montgomery Ward and Company, buyers of 90 per cent of the output of the New London plant, can be stopped immediately through union requests, labor officials said.

A detrimental effect of the boycott, admitted and feared by the local union itself, is the difficulty of recovering the orders once they are stopped.

Among the demands of the union in its labor contract are a general increase in wages, a one week's vacation with pay each year, a 40-hour week, seniority rights and a closed shop.

Schaefer Elected Edison PTA Head

Association Votes to Sponsor Clare Tree Major Players

Carl Schaefer was elected president of the Edison Parent Teachers association to succeed Clement Ketchum at a meeting last night at Edison school.

Mrs. H. J. Weller was elected vice president to succeed Mrs. Harold Heller; Clarence E. Dancker was chosen secretary replacing Miss Meta Froehlich and Mrs. R. I. Dick was named treasurer to replace Mrs. Harvey Younger. However, Mrs. Younger will act as assistant secretary to handle the Clare Tree major accounts.

The club voted to sponsor the Clare Tree major players again next year and Mrs. Ben Rowland will continue as head of the committee in charge. The group voted to change its meeting date from the first Monday of the month to the third Monday.

Radtko to Talk at 1st Meeting of Bike Club

Sergeant Carl Radtko, head of the traffic division of the Appleton police department, will talk on safety at the first meeting of the Hiawatha Safety Bicycle club at 7:30 tonight at the state bank building.

The club is being organized by Kenneth Nickey of the Gamble stores and is open to all bicycle riders. It is being formed to promote safe riding and to teach traffic rules and regulations.

Rules will be adopted and meeting dates set at tonight's meeting when charter members will be registered.

Dr. Rector Speaker At Exchange Meeting

Dr. A. E. Rector talked on the State Medical Society of Wisconsin and its relation to public health at a meeting of the Exchange club last night in Hotel Appleton.

Seven men from the city were guests of members last night. The club will meet on the first and third Monday nights of each month until fall.

Dr. Marshall to Talk At Dentists' Meeting

Dr. V. F. Marshall will talk at a meeting of the Outagamie County Dental association tonight at the Conway hotel. A 6:30 dinner will precede the meeting. About 25 members are expected to attend.

FINED FOR DRUNKENNESS

Frank Shanley, 54, Portage, pleaded guilty of drunkenness and was fined $10 and costs with an alternative of 20 days in the county detention camp by Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court this morning. Shanley was arrested yesterday by city police.

NEW ENGINEER GOES TO WORK

Here is a candid picture of Alfred W. Wickesberg, Appleton's new city engineer, who began a 2-year term in office Monday. Wickesberg was surprised by a Post-Crescent photographer as he studied a drawing of the Carpenter street sanitary sewer which is nearing completion. ## Self-Government Urged In Each Industry With Workers, Bosses Equal Milwaukee.—(U)—The National Catholic Social Action conference advanced toward its final mass meeting tonight with candid statements and spirited debate a part of the record.

Priests, nuns, labor unionists both CIO and A. F. of L., industrialists, business men and laymen in general all had had their opportunity for expression in the dozen sectional meetings and the score of group discussions.

The Rev. Carl P. Hensler of the Catholic Radical Alliance, Pittsburgh, addressing the steel meeting urged self-government in each great industry, with organized workers on an equal footing with the organized employers, and the government preserving "the common good."

"Wrong Direction" Catholic social teaching, he said, "advocates the regulation of industry by the organized industry itself, but allows any measure of governmental intervention that may be found necessary to safeguard the common good."

must be contemplated as a whole and not with an eye to benefiting one class or a group to the detriment of other classes or groups.

"Instead of solving our problems we complicate them by appealing to individual or class prejudices, by setting one segment off against another. The core of our business system is voluntary cooperation. Its greatest menace is class antagonism."

He criticized "the reformers, the theorists, the prophets of the new" on whom he placed the blame for "the serious predicament we are in today." He made no direct comment, however, on governmental measures to regulate business.

His Spending Program

David's address followed on given last night by Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National bank of New York, who declared that President Roosevelt's new spending and credit expansion policies amount to "throwing away all safeguards, removing all brakes and heading for disaster."

The speech by Aldrich, one of 16 business leaders who recently pledged the president their aid in bringing government and business closer together, sounded the note of opposition to many government measures which other speakers also struck.

"Nothing is more needed at the present time than a prolonged period of quiet," Aldrich said. "Not a three to six months' breathing spell, but a two or three years' breathing spell."

During such a period, he said, "government and business can consolidate, modify and assimilate what has already been done" and can also "study quietly the basis of further reform."

PARKER PAYS FINE

George J. Schwab, 1125 N. State street, pleaded guilty of violating the city 60-minute parking ordinance and was fined $1 and costs by Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court yesterday afternoon. The motorist was arrested by city police.

Democratic Race In Florida Eyed By Politicians

Most Important Nationally Among Primaries in Four States

By the Associated Press

Florida Democrats chose their nominee for United States senator today in a five-cornered contest, whose national aspects made it outstanding among primary elections in four states.

Senator Claude Pepper asked renomination as a consistent supporter of President Roosevelt's policies. He bore the endorsement of James Roosevelt, the president's son and secretary.

One of his opponents was Representative Mark Wilcox, who has opposed several White House recommendations. Wilcox as a campaigner criticized the "brainstorms of brain busters."

Florida Republicans also had a senatorial primary, their first contest in history for a statewide nomination.

Local Issues

In South Dakota, Alabama and Indiana, local interest was high, but national issues were not so directly involved. All four states were selecting nominees for congress and various state offices.

The South Dakota campaign witnessed a last-minute injection of religious issues. Anti-Catholic handbills were circulated anonymously, and a reward was offered by former Governor Tom Berry for identification of their source.

Berry and Representative Fred Hildebrandt were both attempting to upset Senator Herbert Hitchcock's campaign for Democratic renomination to the senate. In the Republican senatorial primary three candidates opposed Governor Leslie Jensen.

Prohibition Issue

Alabama's Democratic primary found Senator Lister Hill and Speaker Bankhead unopposed for renomination. Former Senator Thomas Hefflin, attempting a political comeback, opposed Representative Joe Starnes for the latter's house seat.

Prohibition was among the issues in the Alabama gubernatorial primary, contested by five candidates. Indiana voters will not select their senatorial nominees for June conventions, but three representatives were opposed for renomination today.

ed for stimulating finance and industry to help them meet the drain. The tax increases included taxes on incomes, radios, dogs, bond and stock transactions, unfurnished apartments and scores of other items.

A jacked-up scale of customs duties which will be worked out later was expected to yield another $6,000,000 and a surtax on profits of industries engaged in supplying munitions, planes and other parts the national defense was counted upon for the balance.

The 8 per cent increase in taxes following a 20 per cent increase last July meant the man with a wife and child earning $2,500 a year must pay an income tax of $84.18 a year, compared with the previous tax of $77.94.

The men with a wife and child and an income of $3,000 a year will pay an annual income tax of $144.13 compared with $124.20, the previous tax.

The general income tax in France is a surtax in addition to the basic professional tax on profit or salary. The salary tax for a man earning $2,500 a year will now be $131.22 compared with $121.50 before.

So his total income and salary tax will be $215.40.

Miss Edith Mae Holcomb, 929 W. Spring street, is recovering at St. Elizabeth hospital from an operation for appendicitis Saturday.

between the city and Superhighway 41. The report embodied a resolution, asking the state highway department to improve Highway 125, stating the route between the city and the superhighway is inadequate for traffic and that it has curves making it hazardous.

The committee previously had reached an agreement on an alternate southern route but this plan was discarded after a meeting with city officials when cost of the plan was cited as prohibitive.

Pay for the town, village and city assessors attending the annual meeting at which procedures are outlined was raised from $3 to $5 by a unanimous vote.

The board will hold a public hearing at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning on an application for purchase of tax certificates on the property of the Moloch Foundry and Machine company, Kaukauna, at less than their face value. It was voted to hold the hearing at the March session of the board.

The remainder of this morning's session was spent in hearing and approving reports. The sheriff's annual report showing $1,530.11 in fee collections was read and referred to the executive committee and district attorney.

A resolution was adopted expressing sympathy of the board of Supervisor Albert Krueger on the recent death of his wife.

The board will convene again at 9:30 Wednesday morning.

Teach Conservation.

Swanson Tells Legion

Education of youth is the most hopeful way of instilling conservation ideals in the nation's people, R. L. Swanson said in a talk before members of the Oney Johnston Post of the American Legion and the auxiliary last night at the clubhouse.

Striking at greedy fishermen who use illegal ways in catching fish, he declared that "leaving some for the other fellow" is a creed of true sportsmanship.

Erik Madisen announced plans for the dedication ceremonies that will be held at the clubhouse Monday night, May 16, and Fred Gehre, poppy chairman, reported on the poppy sale that will be held May 28. An executive committee session preceded the general meeting.

Michigan Alumni Hear Registrar at Meeting

Ira Smith, registrar at the University of Michigan, talked at a meeting of the northeastern district of the Michigan Alumni club of Wisconsin last night at the Conway hotel. About 25 persons were present.

Chilton Editor Is New President of State Association

William J. McHale. Heads Colorful Professional Group

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison.—William J. McHale of Chilton today had assumed the presidency of one of the most colorful professional organizations in Wisconsin, the historic Wisconsin Press association, fraternity of Wisconsin rural editors.

Promoted from the vice presidency last weekend at the association's annual convention, McHale, editor of the Chilton-Times Journal, heads a group of approximately 250 weekly newspapers throughout the state. He will guide the affairs of a society which is the oldest of its kind in America, has played a significant part in the history of the state, and has produced governors, senators, educators, and journalists who became internationally famous.

Organized in 1853

The Wisconsin Editors and Publishers association was organized soon after the formation of Wisconsin as a state, in 1853, when the weekly country journal was supreme in the newspaper field. Its first president was Charles D. Robinson, influential editor of the Green Bay Advocate. Second president was Harrison Reed of Neenah, who later became governor of Florida.

Among the most prominent officers have been former Governors George W. Pock and W. D. Hoard, J. W. Hoyt, later governor of Wyoming, and Horace Rublee, a prominent figure in Wisconsin political life in earlier days. John Kuypers of De Pere established an all time record for office holding when he served as president of the association for 13 years, from 1918 to 1931.

Today the association maintains its headquarters in Madison, where it provides most of the important weekly journals in Wisconsin with editorial, advertising, information and legislative services.

Dr. Amy Hunter to Talk At Meeting of Nurses

Dr. Amy Hunter will discuss "Child Health" at a meeting of the Sixth district of the Wisconsin State Nurses' association at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. Clark, E. Wisconsin avenue, Neenah. Annual reports and election of officers are scheduled for the meeting.

OUR MODERN AGE

By LEO J. MURPHY, D. C. BENEATH THE SURFACE

Casual observers are wont to proclaim the age in which we live as a callous one and describe the people who are part of it as being devoid of all feelings. Those of us who have taken the time to carefully observe our fellow men at their daily work know that nothing could be further from the truth. Chivalry, sentiment and gratitude are not dead. They have their rightful place in every human heart.

No man has ever produced a substitute for good health because good health is on a plane all its own. Man has, however, devised ways and means of helping nature to function properly and produce good health. The proper care of this space has importance in producing and preserving good health. By taking advantage of the help that chiropractic adjustments can give, many men have found the road to health. Perhaps Leo J. Murphy, 231 Insurance Bldg., can help you. Visit him today.

High School Music Organizations to Perform Thursday

Band, Orchestra, Vocal Groups to Appear in Spring Concert

Kaukauna — The program for the annual spring concert of Kaukauna High school musical organizations Thursday evening was announced yesterday.

The band, under the direction of Clarence Kriesa, will open with "Blue Bells," a march by Buchtel, with a cornet duet, "The Fals," by Barnard, played by Jerome Nyles and Norbert O'Neil, followed by "The Girls' glee club, with Miss Lucille Austin directing, will render "A Snow Legend" by Clokey, and "Let All My Life Be Music," by Sprass. John Wandell will sing "Asleep in the Deep," by Petrie.

The "Overture to the Calif of Bagdad" is the band's next selection, after which Earl Treptow will give a cornet solo, the band then continuing with "T-Pi-Tin," by Grever, and the "Overture to the Soldier of Fortune," by Hildreth. A 5-minute intermission follows this number.

Chorus to Sing

The mixed chorus will then present three songs, "To a Wild Rose," MacDowell, "When Allen a Dale Went A-Hunting," de Pearsall, and "Cargoes," Lullin. The orchestra will play University March by Brugel.

Kenneth Balgie will render a saxophone solo and the boys' glee club will sing three songs. They are "A-Hunting We Will Go," "Water Boy" and "All in an April Evening." A vocal solo, "Ah Love But a Day," by Mrs. H. A. Beach, follows.

Glen Miller and Robert Kittow will present a cornet duet, playing "Friends," by Clay Smith.

The orchestra will conclude the program with "Marche Classique," by C. M. Van Weber, and "Russian Overture," by Bergh.

Accompanists will be Miss Austin, Miss Alice Gruenberger and Arlene Schomisch.

Town of Freedom Woman Dies After Long Illness

Kaukauna — Mrs. Mritz Lau, 75, route 2, town of Freedom, died at her home at 2:30 yesterday noon after a lingering illness. Born in Milwaukee in 1862, she moved to the town of Freedom with her parents when she was six years old and lived there the remainder of her life. She was a member of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church.

Survivors are three daughters, Hulda, Ella and Edna, all at home; two sons, Otto, Milwaukee, George, Kaukauna; one brother, Fred Elder, Appleton, and five sisters, Mrs. John Miller and Mrs. Louis Stammer, Appleton, Mrs. George Jacobson, Kaukauna, Mrs. John Koss, town of Freedom, and Mrs. Ed Stammer, Seymour.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 Thursday afternoon from the residence and at 2 o'clock from Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church, with the Rev. Philip Th. Oehlert in charge. Burial will be in the Lutheran cemetery.

Tickets Still Available For Dinner Honoring Ashe

Kaukauna — Tickets for the dinner tomorrow evening in honor of W. F. Ashe, recently appointed director of the state department of commerce, are still available, a check-up of sales showed this morning. They may be procured at Bratner's and Look's drug stores and Remick's clothing store. The attendance at the stag affair is limited to 100.

Oberthur Services are Held at Hollandtown

Kaukauna — Funeral services for August Oberthur, 85, route 3, Kaukauna, who died Thursday evening, were held at 8:30 yesterday morning from the home and at 9 o'clock from St. Francis church, Hollandtown, with the Rev. C. Raymakers in charge. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

Bearers were George Tennesen, Ben Vande Yacht, Frank Schmidt, Theodore Micke, Theodore Eiting and Anton School.

Appoint Students to Conduct Candy Sales

Kaukauna — Students to conduct the noon candy sales at Kaukauna High school this week have been announced by the glee club, sponsors of the sale. They are Joan Kramer, Geraldine Brewster, Genevieve Bergman, Margaret Langlois, Mary Benotch, Margaret Lettau, Mary Niesen, Beatrice Gotsman, Alice Thompson and Elsie Uedley.

Lee James Martell, 7, Succumbs This Morning

Kaukauna — Lee James Martell, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Martell, 312 Brothers street, died at 5 o'clock this morning after a lingering illness. He was born in 1930 at Appleton.

Survivors are the parents, one sister, Donna Marie, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Hentz, Kaukauna.

There now are 243,700 collective farms in Russia with 13,500,000 households, or 33 per cent of all peasants in the country.

Council May Act On Proposals for New Health Setup

Committee Will Return Questions for Aldermanic Discussion

Kaukauna — Discussion of proposed changes in the city's health ordinances is expected to take up most of the time at tonight's meeting of the common council at the municipal building.

Beginning with a request of Dr. C. D. Boyd, city health officer, for several changes in current arrangements, the problems in question have been discussed at previous council meetings and at the last one were left to the ordinance committee to bring in a recommendation. Chairman Walter Kilgas of this committee, however, has announced that he will throw the question back to the council for their decision.

Kilgas said yesterday that he favored, and a majority of the physicians whom he consulted favored, the retention of the present health officer plan with more stringent rules in regard to operations at the expense of the city. Kilgas said he would recommend a system whereby an applicant must secure a blank from the relief director, have it approved by the health officer as to the necessity for an operation or hospitalization, and then have it signed by the relief director who thus certifies the expense will be borne by the city.

Question of Authority

Besides several changes recommended in the present ordinances, an important question is whether Kaukauna shall have a health officer, as at present, a health commissioner, or a city physician. Much more than a difference in words would result if the city changed to a health commissioner, with that official, under Wisconsin statutes, having more power and independence of action than a health officer.

The question of a city physician was first brought before the council several months ago by Alderman G. S. Muholland, then chairman of the poor committee, who commented on the large sums going for hospitalization, operations and medicine, and said the city might be further ahead if it were to hire a full time physician to care for all its cases.

Schneider Asks 100 Million More For REA Projects

Wisconsin Legislator Says Many Benefits Derived From Work

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau Washington — A $40,000,000 appropriation for the Rural Electrification administration will mean that less than a million dollars will be available for such projects in Wisconsin, where the value of sound projects awaiting loans already totals $11,370,000, Congressman George J. Schneider stated in a speech before the house of representatives.

Favoring the amendment to the independent offices appropriations bill which would increase the appropriation from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000, Schneider believes that this is the very least that can be done. "I favor an additional $100,000,000 for rural electrification, over and above the $40,000,000," he declared.

"At this time when men are begging for jobs, the rural electrification program will not only bring the blessings of electricity into the farm home, but it will at the same time provide much needed employment."

"From raw material to finished product, including all means of transportation, there will be untold opportunities for idle men."

"Local communities in which poles will be laid and the wires strung will also directly benefit from the earnings and expenditures of the workers employed."

75 Per Cent Without

Only 50,000 of Wisconsin's 200,000 farms are so far electrified, Schneider said, leaving about 75 per cent without electricity.

"And the news and entertainment of the world is brought into the home by a turn of the electric radio switch. . . . REA is helping to keep the young folks on the farm by making life as pleasant in the rural areas as in the cities," Schneider said.

The cooperative ability of Wisconsin farmers has been well shown by the outstanding success of the REA in the state, he stated.

One project in Oconto, he said, comprises 305 miles of power lines costing $307,000, borrowed from the REA, and has 1,095 farm members as customers.

A HALT ON BLUNDERS

Governor LaFollette's address, delivered at the baptism of the National Progressive party, and which was published in last Friday's Post-Crescent, has been analyzed from ocean to ocean with varying and conflicting emotions and conclusions.

Reds and Pinks are disgruntled. The address looks as though men might have to work again, and there are certain classes that seem to have an oath registered on high that they are entitled to live off the country without work.

Conservatives are generally suspicious of every address that comes from anyone by the name of LaFollette. They were prejudiced against what the governor had to say even before he said it.

Then there is a class that is not so much related to any political party as it is to a chronic case of dyspepsia, the men who have to have pepsin tablets in their pockets to hold their gizzards down. Included herein are numbers who look upon themselves as publicists or journalists who have taken a stand they dislike to abandon and already accustomed to Roosevelt methods of reasoning which often enough, and strangely enough too, ran parallel with their own, they felt only annoyance that criticism could be made of the gentleman who declares he reads their 25,000 letters a day telling him how to run the government.

As a pure piece of excellent English the address will rank favorably with any of the important or conspicuous addresses in our history. It is not complete. In the nature of things it could not be complete. A man cannot in an hour or several hours cover so vast a subject involving so many details as national policy without leaving a great many questions to be asked.

Thus Mr. LaFollette said that "the ownership and control of money and credit, without qualification or reservation, must be under public and not private control."

That sentence has been variously interpreted from an adoption of Father Coughlin's mistaken financial theories to an acceptance of extreme Socialist notions which the governor elsewhere abandoned.

But there are parts of Mr. LaFollette's address that demand no questions to clear up their meaning. "We flatly oppose every form of coddling or spoon-feeding the American people," is pretty plain. "No government on earth can successfully manage, regulate and direct the numerous details that make for healthy families or successful business." And that, too, shows genuine and healthy thinking. The statement that after there has been restored to every American "the opportunity to help himself" he must be left to his own resources whether that result in his sinking or swimming, sounds good enough to be recognized in every era of American history with the exception of the years 1933 to date.

Neither may it have been any mere accident that Mr. LaFollette left for his closing declaration that this western world must be kept entirely free from trespass by foreign powers because that is at once historically true, reasonable from every standpoint, practical by every standard, and yet unselfish and preservative of democracy. Yet this is but a removal of the famous Monroe Doctrine shattered, in our opinion, by the express words of those various treaties which Mr. Roosevelt entered into and which it pleased him to call the Neighborhood Policy.

Though on some social problems the governor and the president have walked parallel paths, probably because the governor showed the way and the president followed, it is clear that Mr. LaFollette has done a distinct service to the country and particularly to those who call themselves liberals, as distinguished from radicals, by disassociating himself with what may properly be called the ill-handled policies of the White House, the careless, wasteful, impractical methods of handling human affairs, the coddling of the lazy, the spoon-feeding of the indolent, the support of the several million who are seemingly disinterested in the robust policies of a manly administration but are content to live on a handout until their influence may bring them a governmental berth which demands little more in the way of labor than the endorsement of their monthly check.

It should be evident that Mr. LaFollette genuinely believes that the Roosevelt policies are not only likely to make the words "liberal" and "progressive" as bitter as gall and wormwood but, even worse, bring the country to such a wretched pass that even democracy becomes endangered.

WHO IS GREAT IN THIS COUNTRY

The value of leadership is not to be discounted. Indeed it is of overwhelming importance.

But just the same the value of those who never care to mount a rostrum, make a speech or wield the scepter of power should not be underrated merely because craning necks and huzzas do not follow upon their footsteps. Much was made in this column recently of Johnny Appleseed, in his grave nearly a century, and of his high worth to the people of America. The only trouble is we have too many who are valuable to the nation to recount or mention them all.

Perhaps, because of the criticism that in their daily fare, those in office should receive some token of distinction besides their title. And the Works Progress Administration feels likewise because it has offered immortality in oil and on canvas to all public officials whom it deems "worthy of preservation for posterity."

Stated otherwise, a public official may have his portrait painted by the WPA federal artist project if he can establish his worthiness. More than 200 officials have been considered worthy to date, had their portraits painted, and received the thrill of seeing them on public display. Of course this work is done gratis.

But that our public officials, worthy or otherwise, have a high opinion of their just desserts may be seen in the fact that the WPA has enough applications on hand to keep a hundred artists busy for more than a year.

In the due course of events, as events run in America these days, a tidy sum will be set aside to build a safe public gallery in which our worthy officeholders, with emphasis on the worthy, and their ideals of democracy may frown down upon the breathless crowds that gather to view the great.

SENSIBLE MEN AND A SENSIBLE PLAN

There isn't any particular pleasure in an American finding some other country far in advance of his own in respect to important measures and policies and particularly when that other country is England, always smug and pretty well satisfied.

But observe how England handles its finances. And observe, too, how she puts her people to work.

Last year England had a balanced budget with something on the safe side, about 140 millions in our money. She somewhat lowered her debt because the English budget ordinarily includes a sum to be paid upon the principal of her obligations.

But now, forced to spend an additional sum of nearly 2 billions for her armament program, or in other words with her budget getting out of balance, in her good and sound, realistic way, she forthwith claps on new taxes. Immediately she increases already stiff income taxes by 10 per cent. She raises the tax on tea, and the British drink tea like we drink coffee. There are other taxes, not entirely enough to balance her budget with the extremely heavy demand for armaments but sufficient to pay about three-fourths of the way, filling in the gap with some short temporary borrowings that will be paid out of these new taxes as they continue into other years and the armament program lessens its demands.

The British pay their way. We borrow our way. Britain is a realistic nation. Today we are a Paradise for the dreamers.

But the sound policy in Britain keeps unemployment down. And the flimsy policy in America is destructive of employment because it is an impairment of the national health.

Opinions Of Others

FREE SPEECH IN MEDICINE

Temperate as the statement is which the committee of the 430 physicians publish in The Journal of the American Medical Association to explain their relation to organized medicine, it will be read with mortification, perhaps with indignation, by thousands of physicians. In a widely quoted editorial published on Oct. 16, 1937, The Journal opposed any local, state or federal grant for the improvement of medical research and the alleviation of sickness among the needy, and it is now charged grossly misled physicians and the press to believe that the "principles and proposals" had been condemned by the American Medical Association is the entering wedge of socialized medicine, and that the 430 were in revolt. It turns out that the public press was more accurate and just than The Journal. Many newspapers published the "principles and proposals" in full; The Journal a mutilated version. Indeed, the representatives of the 430 remark that "on the whole the newspapers responded to the desires of the committee" with commendable restraint. Moreover, The Journal's declaration that there have been many defections from the ranks of the 430 is denied. Actually the new signatures voluntarily added to the "principles and proposals" far outnumber the few formal withdrawals. There is reason to believe that the total number of signatures is now well over 700.

The American Medical Association has earned the gratitude of the public by raising the standards of the medical education and practice, passing new medical preparations and procedures, and exposing quacks. There praise-worthy activities should be extended to include the editorial policy of its Journal.

More important than the statement issued by the representative of the 430 is a promise, extracted apparently under pressure, that there will be henceforth "more discussion in The Journal of social and economic problems concerning the provision of medical care, with the presentation of various aspects of the subject." If a physician may now count within reason on the publication of his disagreement with The Journal's views, the 430 were choked off when any of them sought to explain why they believed in the "principles and pro-

YESTERDAY'S OBSERVATIONS

MONDAY is only blue to the people who wake up after the weekend. The rest of us don't know what is happening.

Wonder-if-she-had-insurance—the lady who backed her car out of a parking place Saturday, taking two cracks at one of my fenders and messing it up considerably, and then backed into a bus that was waiting for the traffic light to change. She then, according to the observer who reported to me subsequently, drove away.

Reminding-me-of the lady who once backed out of a parking place while I was waiting in line for a light to change and then started to bawl me out for being in her way. I never collected for that fender either.

Noting the steady improvement of the Wisconsin football team after spring practice and the presence of material that will make the team a contender next fall.

MOTHER'S SOLILOQUY

Mercy, but I'm tired! A busy day at best.
Guess I'll just sit down a bit and have a little rest.

Supper's almost ready — House is nice and neat.
Dad will soon be home again and then we have to eat.

Baby, mustn't touch, dear, Tommy, close the door.
Oh Baby, now you've pulled daddy's ash tray to the floor.

Tom, take off your duds son, or else go back outside.
Take your little bike out and have a nice long ride.

Oh babe, don't cry, I'll rub it. Where'd you bump your head?
My but you're a tired boy — It's almost time for bed.

Did I say rest? What did I hear — Somebody's car arrive?
Oh yes, it's daddy's headlights coming in the drive.

GROWING OLD TOGETHER

(For Theresa and Will)

They are growing old together
In their quiet kindly way,
Hand in hand through summer weather,
And when winter skies are gray.
They have never had much money,
But that doesn't count, I guess,
When Love makes the pathway sunny,
And the heart holds happiness!

They have known both toil and sorrow,
Never yielding to despair,
There is always joy to borrow
With somebody near to share.
Every burden, every pleasure . . .
In the lovely sacrament
Of their marriage is full measure
Of that blessed boon, Content.

They are growing old together,
And when I drop in to tea,
They are always in high feather!
How their laughter heartens me!
When I see them gayly finding
So much joy in sunset's gold,
I grow braver, scarcely minding
That I, too, am growing old!

GET H.B.P. WORRYING OVER H.B.P.

From the queries and comments in letters from readers it would seem that the quaint popular notion that meat, especially dark meat, yes, and eggs too, cause high blood pressure, is still taken too seriously. It may even be that some doctors, relics of the nineteenth century, still hand out funny diet lists that warn persons with high blood pressure off from such food.

Overeating that is taking more normal weight, growth, repair and physical efficiency, is probably a common factor of high blood pressure (HBP) and if not corrected probably hastens the development of cardiovascular degeneration, heart artery wearing out (CVD) and premature old age. But neither scientifically nor clinically is there any evidence that meat, light or dark, or eggs, or any other food containing protein (nitrogenous) material is any more to blame than any other food material. Indeed the more recent investigations tend to incriminate carbohydrates and fats as the main offenders.

When Stefansson and Anderson, the Arctic explorers, lived for a year on an exclusive meat diet, under the constant observation and study of physicians, physiologists, pathologists and chemists Stefansson's blood pressure remained unchanged throughout the year, while Anderson's, which was 140 systolic, 80 diastolic at the beginning of the test was 120 systolic, 80 diastolic at the end of the test.

So any one with high blood pressure need be in no hurry to cut acquaintance with the butcher. My blood pressure has been measured a good many times in the past twenty or thirty years, but I have never been sufficiently interested to know just what it is. Who cares about such things? Only the poor goof who has been frightened into believing the blood pressure is serious matter and that high blood pressure is a dangerous state.

Many things may cause the blood pressure to rise above the normal or ordinary, and most of the things that do so are not particularly serious. Worry or anxiety may do so, even worry over the height of one's blood pressure.

How widely the normal blood pressure for individuals varies is indicated by the figures recorded in reference to the meat diet just mentioned. Both men in their prime and in good health; Stefansson's pressure, 105-70; Anderson's, 140-80 to 120-80. Obviously it is inaccurate and misleading to attempt to set up any arbitrary scale of blood pressure according to age, as so many bunk-merchants who cater to fuss-budgets do.

People who imagine cutting out meat or eating less meat reduces blood pressure if the pressure is too high, ought to be informed that if the blood pressure becomes lower on such a regimen it is not because they have cut out meat but because they are eating less salt, which animal flesh contains, and perhaps also less salt in and on their food.

Your Birthday

"TAURUS"

If May 4 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:45 to 10:45 a. m.; from 2:45 to 4:45 p. m., and from 6:45 to 8:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 6:45 to 8:45 a. m.; from 4:45 to 6:45 p. m., and from 8:45 to 10:45 p. m.

A lack of discrimination in the selection of foods, as well as clothing, due to the average person having a tendency to procrastinate this day, and then at the last minute being in a hurry, will inspire most of the unpleasant criticism that will be handed out. Frankness will be the best policy to pursue. Due to the fact that people are mentally very alert they will be subject to exposure and fail to accomplish anything. The old saying, "a poor excuse is better than none," is liable to be a fallacy, for there will be an unusual amount of skepticism about any pretension of a justification for any strange action, or failure to do something promised. You may get into the good graces of someone this day, by displaying sympathy or kindly consideration. Some sudden thought is apt to turn out to be an inspiration needed to change this from a disappointing day into a very lucky one for you. Married and engaged couples, as well as those who are in love, should not be afraid to take full credit for any kind thing that they have done this day, for it will not be wise to hide your light under a bushel.

If a woman and May 4 is your birthday, you probably possess an artistic eye and very clever hands. You apparently love to live in a world of make-believe, and have already passed through, or very shortly will, a period filled with romance. Your sense of humor will save you from much needless worry. Your proclivity to tease you into trouble. As a musician, artist, sculptor, sales agent, author, actress or business executive you opportunities to make money appear to be unlimited. Influences surrounding your matrimonial prospects seem to be auspicious, and give every indication that love will be a treasure you always will possess.

The child born on May 4, is generally very sensitive, inclined to be dramatic and, has, as a rule, a mind of its own, that is very difficult for anyone to change. Through its own merit and energy this youngster is likely to make a triumphant march through life.

If a man and May 4 is your natal day, good business judgment, hard work and luck in all likelihood will make you a prominent and prosperous citizen. In some advisory capacity, or as an architect, contractor, railroad man, actor, banker, manufacturer, inventor, lawyer or sales representative your achievements may be outstanding. Successful People Born on May 4: William H. Prescott, historian. Frederick E. Church, landscape artist. Amasa Walker, political economist.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

New York—Mr. J. B. Priestly has some strange things to say about dramatic tastes on this side of the Atlantic in a current issue of a monthly magazine. But I think this argument would carry more authority if his own plays were a little more successful.

Mr. Priestly was represented briefly on Broadway this season with two plays, one of which was called an artistic triumph but failed to survive the public's apathy. The other, "Time And The Conways," was so unbelievably dull that most of the play-goers walked out or went to sleep.

Both of these plays had good ideas but were handled so heavily that, from a box-office angle, they never had a chance to succeed. In respect of what London thinks of him and the honors he has won in letters, it is my opinion that he can't write entertainingly enough to succeed as a playwright on the New York stage. He simply is too heavy-footed and dull.

His article purposes to analyze the New York stage, which he finds cynical, trashy and ill-mannered. To arrive at this conclusion he completely ignores the successful plays of this season, most of which his own countrymen have hailed, and points to two holdovers from last year as being the sum and total of what Broadway likes.

The plays he mentions are "The Women," now in its second year, and "You Can't Take It With You," a Pulitzer prize winner also in its second year and one of the big money-makers in Broadway history. He is correct when he says New York likes these plays. But he is scarcely adequate as a critic and he is certainly less than honest as a reporter when he holds up two comedies, which he dislikes, as representative of the whole New York theater.

Mr. Priestly, more in sorrow than in anger, deplores the plight of the poor Manhattan critics who "drag themselves off to the theater nearly every night in the week, bored and grumbling, and are in no condition to appreciate the subtleties of dramatic art."

Subtleties of what art? That dull stuff he packed into "Time And The Conways," which in most observers, inspired one long, bored yawn, three acts long?

Sorrowing further after the wretches who observe the New York drama professionally, Mr. Priestly adds: "What they demand from the state is a series of electric shocks, scenes that are tougher and tougher, comedy that is wilder and wilder, wisecracks that are more and more daring." Finally he likens his writings to rare old liqueur brandy which is unappreciated by New Yorkers because their palates have been impaired by constant usage of cheap bootleg whiskey and firewater. New York's trash theatricals, he says, are like shots in the arm to jaded reviewers who must have something explosive to keep them awake.

Perhaps New York could use an occasional dram of honest liqueur but in the case of Mr. Priestly's

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — Many members of congress, educated far from the halls of Harvard and Yale, often have expressed pain and annoyance (privately) that lawyers from the big schools appear to have the inside track on the more important jobs in the government. Finally quiet Senator Sheppard of Texas is to take the first step to do something about it, publicly.

He has introduced a bill—and is pressing it — to prevent discrimination against Washington's "sundown" law schools and other tinier schools which wither in the shadow cast by the towering reputations of the big ones.

So far as we—or Senator Sheppard—can learn, there is no accurate nose count on which college has put the most lawyers in nice government jobs. But there is a prevailing belief that Harvard has done a very good job of turning out lawyers. Acting through Felix Frankfurter, who early was credited with putting handfuls of his "hot dogs" in the top brackets of the federal payroll.

They Work Their Way
Senator Sheppard firmly believes that there is rank discrimination against the little schools but concedes he is hardy to prove his case fully. He has written letters to heads of many departments asking them whether they restrict their selections to a limited few schools and, if so, how they go about it. As yet he has had few replies.

His primary complaint is that numbers of departments and bureaus refuse to hire any lawyers except those graduated by schools approved by the American Bar Association or the Association of American Law Schools.

His staff has calculated that this restriction eliminates all except three of the 10 or more law schools in Texas. Equally to the point, it knocks out four of the several law schools in Washington which, he says, provide the principal opportunity for young patronage lads to get an education in law at the same time they can earn a living. Youngsters come by scores from out in the states to hold minor government jobs while they go to school.

The local schools get their title of "sundown" colleges because these lads work as capitol police or run elevators from 9 to 4:30, then shove off at sundown to law classes running from 5 to 7 p. m. Their college education in three years complete a law course.

Remember Prohibition?

For years the American Bar Association and the association of law colleges has pressed for higher and higher scholastic requirements and some of the top-flight schools now require law students first to finish a four-year college course before going into law.

Senator Sheppard insists that law schools which teach a man the law, without all this supplemental fancy work, should not be written off the books just because the big ones can offer more. His bill goes right to the heart of the dispute between the big schools and the "sundown" institutions operating in old buildings or on second-string office buildings in Washington.

First, it provides that no department may reject an applicant for a job because he "has not been graduated from a particular law school." Second, it would prevent rejection of a student who "has not been graduated from a law school which is of a particular class, or which has been approved or accredited by any association, organization, or group, or has not had college training in addition to law-school training."

The bill provides that any government executive trying to get around those provisions would lose his pay.

The senator is prepared for a long, slow fight. He has had training at that. He has spent most of his life trying to convert the United States to prohibition.

New Hearing Granted on Radio Station's Plea

Madison—(AP)—Attorney General O. S. Loomis said today the Federal Communications Commission at Washington has granted a new hearing on the application of state Radio Station WJLB at Stevens Point to extend its broadcasting time.

The hearing will be held in the offices of the commission May 19.

An examiner recommended after the original hearing in January that the station's request to broadcast until 10 p. m. be denied. It now operates only until 6 p. m.

The attorney general filed a petition taking exception to the report of the examiner, who contended that further operating time would not serve the public interest and would interfere with other stations.

Roosevelt Wants Investigation of Insurance Firms

Message Asking Probe Made After Signing of The Manifesto of Peace

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Although four of the sixteen men who signed the manifesto of peace between government and business last Tuesday were presidents of some of the nation's biggest life insurance companies, President Roosevelt, just four days later, sent a message to Congress asking that authority be given for an investigation of insurance companies.

This is one of the outstanding examples of contradiction which has broken down in the past whatever efforts at cooperation usually have been established between business and government. In this particular case, the president asks that powers be conferred on the Securities and Exchange commission to conduct the investigation, and it so happens that John W. Hanes, member of the SEC, was the prime mover in getting the manifesto of the 16 men signed last week. It seems incredible that he should have known the president was planning a move of this sort and it may well be that this is another example of the right hand not knowing what the left is doing in the Roosevelt administration. The president's exact words in his message to Congress were:

"The tremendous investment funds controlled by our great insurance companies have a certain kinship to investment trusts, in that these companies invest, as trustees, the savings of millions of our people. The Securities and Exchange commission should be authorized to make an investigation of the facts relating to these investments with particular relation to their use as an instrument of economic power."

Concentration of Power

For more than two years there have been rumors hereabout of attempts by New Dealers to get a congressional investigation started on insurance companies. Just what they hope to accomplish is not clear, and it may be that the New Deal feels that any group of institutions with $26,000,000,000 of assets should not be permitted to exist unless it is within the clutches of the political administration here. Mr. Roosevelt's principal argument in his message was that concentration of economic power should be reduced, if not eliminated altogether. It is true that the insurance companies have large sums to invest, but their size is a big advantage to the policy holder because, if investments in a certain field should drop in value, it does not as a rule affect the portfolios of other investments. This diversity has been a big feature of life insurance companies.

There is one possibility that may arise out of political tinkering with insurance companies. It relates to the forcing of more government securities on the insurance companies, or at least preventing them from exercising any veto on reckless issuance by the government of more and more securities.

The banks already have a higher proportion of their deposits invested in government securities, and the insurance companies also show a higher proportion of their assets in government bonds than at any time in the history of the country.

Government Securities

Back in 1929, the investments of the 49 companies which do virtually all the insurance business of the country contained only about 2 percent of their total assets in government bonds. But, on Jan. 1, 1938, the percentage of government securities to the total assets had gone up to 18.2 percent. It now amounts to about $4,416,000,000—an unprecedented amount as well as percentage.

Cash held by the insurance companies unable to find safe investment is higher today than ever. It was only $117,000,000 in 1929, but today $625,000,000 in cash is lying idle in the insurance companies waiting for some way to be properly invested.

Naturally, this idleness irks the administration, which would like, no doubt, to see the insurance companies abandon their conservative investing policies and join in the ballyhoo of pump-priming engaged in by the politicians who have no regard, as a rule, for other people's money when it comes to spending programs.

It is obvious, too, that life insurance companies have to be consulted on many other things the administration is doing. Thus, on Jan. 1, 1938, the 49 insurance companies had $3,134,000,000 or 12.9 percent of their total assets in railroads, $2,826,000,000 or 11.9 percent of their assets in other public utilities. This compares with $2,848,000,000 or 17.7 percent of total assets invested in railroads and $1,450,000,000 or 9 percent of total assets in other public utilities in 1929.

Here, then, on the matter of railroads, public utilities, and purchase of government securities, a group of private citizens are in a position to exercise an independent judgment in investing funds. This is not to the liking of the New Deal, which wants to have concentration of political power. The investigation method is the favorite way to get new legislation, because the inquiries usually are conducted in biased and muckraking fashion for headline purposes and political combat.

Source of Irritation

The insurance companies have in the last couple years been buying privately whole flotations of issues of industrial companies, and this has in some instances made registration before the SEC unnecessary. This has been a source of irritation to the New Dealers, who want to control not a part of the capital market, but all of it. As a matter of

Movie Land Its People and Products

Pat O'Brien seems to have a great audience when he tells a bed-time story to his two kiddies, Mavourneen and Little Pat, Jr. And we'll bet it's "about two Irishmen." Pat recently completed "Women are Like That" with Kay Francis and now he's getting ready to play in "Boy Meets Girl" with his old pal, Jimmy Cagney.

Bonita Granville, "little girl" of the movies, is gradually becoming a most lovely young lady. You'll see her on the screen next in "White Banners."

Janet Shaw is so mischievously naive that something dandy must be going to happen, or else she's waiting for a phone call. You'll see her next in "Gold Diggers in Paris."

Health Giving Oil Obtained From Ugly, Despised Fish

Port Washington Wis.—(AP)—Reading like a chapter from the life of Louis Pasteur is the story of Miss Evelyn Smith and her discovery of "Burbotoil," a freshwater fish liver product with eight times the vitamin potency of cod liver oil.

Miss Smith, pleasant-faced, middle-aged, and a registered nurse, is an active member of the Smith Brothers company, family of commercial fishermen on the Great Lakes for 90 years. With wind and diesel engine for propulsion, Smith Bros. tugs have plied fishing waters since 1848.

It is at the inspiration of Miss Smith that the health-giving Burbotoil quietly has been made free to charitable institutions in and out of Wisconsin, given freely to Port Washington townspeople, and distributed regularly to the 400 to 500 persons comprising the Smith Bros. employees and their families scattered at five stations over Lakes Michigan, Superior and Huron.

"Burbotoil" is derived from the "lawyer" fish, an oversized bullhead belonging to the Burbot or fact, it is believed the insurance companies have no special desire to buy securities at private sales, but are often forced to do so in order to invest their funds in industrial companies. Practically none of the life insurance company investments are in common stocks and very little in preferred stocks, so the insurance executives do not get mixed up in management or exercise any control in that direction. Their purchases are almost wholly bonds and mortgages.

It is a serious thing to open up to public agitation the details of investment policy in any large financial institutions, especially in critical times like these when the fear of inflation and other ideas of instability with reference to the dollar are in the air. But if an inquiry is voted by Congress and the public does get the facts it may prove a wholesome thing for people generally to be made aware of the fact that $26,000,000,000 of life insurance company assets can become a plaything of the New Deal unless the public exercises vigilance against further encroachments by the politicians on these privately managed financial institutions. Life insurance companies are, after all, subject to rigid supervision and regulation in every state in the union, and it isn't as if their investment portfolios are not carefully scrutinized by public agencies. They are almost as much subject to periodic examination as the banks.

Little Indication Of Forward Trend In Buying of Steel

Private Enterprise Accounts for Little Present Activity

Steel buying and production have struck a balance at practically one-third capacity and there is little indication of an upward movement. April buying was slightly less than in March, seasonal increases not being sufficient to push the market off dead center, says Steel.

Private enterprise accounts for little present activity, state and municipal improvements, with some federal work, providing most demand. Among pending work Shasta dam, California, will take about 15,000 tons of various forms of steel. A bridge over the Potomac has been let, requiring 2800 tons and a needle trades school in New York, 4300 tons. The only private award of size is a building for Johns-Manville Corp. in Virginia, 1500 tons.

Rail Buying Negligible

Building is negligible, the Illinois Central placing 5000 tons of rails and the Washab asking court permission to buy 5750 tons. Some releases on contracts have given Chicago rail mills a slight increase in activity. Most rails on order have been rolled and backlogs are light.

Platemakers have considerable tonnage in prospect as the result of bids to be opened in May for cargo ships and barges. New York City will open bids May 9 on 30 welded steel barges, requiring about 9000 tons. The maritime commission has set May 3 for opening bids on 12 cargo vessels taking 36,000 tons of hull steel and May 17 for four more cargo ships, 14,000 tons of hull steel. In addition to these prospective tonnages 5000 cars for the Southern railway, on which bids were opened April 30, will contribute about 60,000 tons, largely plates.

Output Rates Waver

Production rates wavered last week, keeping pace with varying volume of buying, increases in some centers being balanced by declines in others. The net effect is a loss of 1 point, to 32 per cent. Some indications are shown of higher operations this week. Pittsburgh rolled three points to 26 per cent and Chicago gained three points to 33.5 per cent, the best this year. Wheeling advanced 2 points to 48 per cent, Cleveland 1.2 points to 32 and New England 2 points to 27. Eastern Pennsylvania dropped 1 point to 27.5. Buffalo 2 points to 29, Youngstown 2 points to 29 and Cincinnati 15 points to 30. There was no change at Birmingham, 66 per cent, St. Louis, 36.3 and Detroit, 18.

Foreign trade in March was much below February, exports being 7.7 per cent lower and imports 40 per cent. However dollar value of exports was 10.7 per cent higher, due to most shrinkage being in low-priced items. Exports to Europe declined 64 per cent, while shipments to other areas showed a gain. For first quarter, exports were 30.4 per cent higher than for the same period last year. Scrap exports in March were 338,648 gross tons, compared with 266,790 tons in February, the United Kingdom taking most. In the first three months scrap exports were 951,975 tons, compared with 586,369 tons in the same period last year.

Imports at New Low

Imports at 11,600 tons were the lowest for any month in several years and compare with 19,589 tons in February. First quarter imports were 50 per cent under last year. American machinery exports gained 44 per cent over March last year, power-driven metal-working machinery being 45 per cent larger. Sharp reduction in automobile production last week brought total units to 50,755 which is 9808 less than the preceding period. General Motors accounted for most of the decline, dropping from 23,370 to 14,670, Chrysler from 13,550 to 10,050, Ford from 10,558 to 15,785 and all others from 7683 to 7250.

Weakness in scrap prices continues in the East and reductions of 50 cents at Pittsburgh and 25 to 50 cents in Eastern Pennsylvania have appeared. Chicago prices remaining unchanged. The result is a loss of 20 cents in the steelmaking scrap composite, to $11.71. This is the lowest level since August, 1935, and represents a downward movement of $2.04 since the beginning of the year. $1.29 during April. The influence of scrap caused the iron and steel composite to slip 4 cents, to $33.54. The finished steel composite is unchanged at $61.70.

Following reduction in tin plate by the International Tin Plate association ten days ago Welsh manufacturers last week announced an advance of 15 3d to 21s 6d for British Empire users. This compares with 20s 3d by the cartel. The Welsh advance is accompanied by a rebate plan for countries outside the empire, to meet export competition from the Continent and the United States.

Koepe Is Low Bidder On Green Bay Project

The Koepe Construction company, Appleton, was low bidder on construction of a pumping station and reservoir for the city of Green Bay. It was revealed at a meeting of the board of public works Saturday. The low bid was $39,932.

The Green Bay water commission stated Saturday contracts will be awarded at its regular meeting Wednesday night provided bids are approved by the Wisconsin Public Service commission. The Koepe company, it was reported, has agreed to employ local labor and use local stone, prepared by a Green Bay firm if awarded the contract.

In addition to the major contract, the Appleton firm offered to lay concrete walks and a driveway as required for 20 cents per square foot on the walks and 30 cents a square yard on the drive.

A. A. L. Directors Will Meet Friday, Saturday

Directors of the Aid Association for Lutherans will meet in the insurance building here Friday and Saturday, Alex O. Benz, president, said today. Routine business matters will be conducted.

Northport Man to Seek Executive Clemency

Curt Herferth, Northport, convicted of bank robbery in municipal court here and sentenced Dec. 17, 1930 to the state prison for a term of 15 to 25 years is planning to file an application for executive clemency with Governor Philip F. LaFollette next month. Herferth held up the State bank at Shiocton and took $180. He was captured after a posse of 40 men searched for him.

Files Application for Liquor Dealer's License

An application for a license to deal in intoxicating liquors was filed with City Clerk Carl J. Rechert Monday by Rudolph Werner, 912 W. Winnebago street. Werner's tavern will be at 525 W. College avenue.

Boy Scouts and Their Troops

How often does one ever pause to realize the significance of rural scouting or Lone Scouting, as the movement is popularly named? Although this phase of the boy scout movement is somewhat dimmed by the attention paid to the extensive city scouting program it, nevertheless, is a vital part of the vast scouting machine. Merit badge work, first aid contests, handicraft work and sporting activities, designed especially to be adaptable to rural life, are just as important events in the boy scout's curriculum as his city brother's.

Honorable mention of the week goes to Troop 26, Marion, for its initiative in farming and sponsoring the only troop band in the valley council area. As a result, it is not surprising to note that band practice was one of the most important features at the troop's last meeting. A merit system has been devised by which each of the troop's four patrols will be graded, and the one receiving the greatest number of points will be awarded a practical prize. Points are secured for regular attendance at troop meetings, hikes, camping trips and for service. An outstanding worker, at present, is Howard Wienandt, quartermaster, who has collected approximately 50 bales of paper for the troop. Sid Knutson and Dale Parfitt recently related an interesting travel talk, discussing their experiences in the East Scouting activities of Troop 26, Marion, were recently enlivened by a shroud of mystery started by an announcement made to the troop by Mr. Mike Foley, scoutmaster, after an investigation of several United States Navy reports from 1897, that a valuable treasure is buried somewhere in that territory of Wisconsin. Reward or no reward, he is going to let his scouts share in the fun of a treasure hunt.

Kaukauna Scouts Hike

The following scouts from Troop 31, Kaukauna, recently participated in an over-night hike, bunking out in the open and culminating their outing by attending an early mass: Tom Bauer, Tim McCarty, Monroe Romanesco, Glen and Milton Vandehy, Orville Yingling, and Bob Eiting. The father and son hike, originally scheduled to be held April 21, was called off on account of rain and will be postponed indefinitely.

A novel point system recently was established as a portion of the scouting program of Troop 25, Appleton. Under the new plan points will be awarded to the winners of games, patrols whose organization is the most efficient, and those scouts who show the most favorable results. At a recent inspection session the patrol under the direction of Robert Schrimpf won top honors.

The 3-month inter-patrol contest sponsored by Troop 3, Menasha, has ended and a disclosure of the final results of the closely contested battle indicates that the Jeeps were the victors, having accumulated 8332 points. Second, third, and fourth places went to Strange's, Kurtz's, and members' patrols respectively. The members of the victorious patrol are as follows: Roman Zimmermann, Bill Spengler, Bill Quinn, Don Quinn, Duane Schimmel, Bill Lawson, Bill Soussure, Ronald Rogers, Robert Merrill, and Charles Muth. As a reward for the patrol's fine victory, it will be awarded with a weekend trip to Gardner Dam. Bill Kurtz, drill master, and Bill Spengler, senior patrol leader, conducted the opening ceremonies and routine of the troop's last meeting. The main interest of the meeting was provided by an 8-man and a 4-man knot-tying race, the former won by Hugh Strange's patrol and the latter taken by the Jeep patrol. Plans for the forthcoming camporee in Neenah were given special consideration.

Tests At Seymour

On a test hike recently sponsored by Troop 17, Seymour, the following took part: Messrs. Eldon Christopherson, knot-tying; Buddy Trace, Teddy Hawkins, Raymond Miller, and James Wiese, tracking. Other scouts who have succeeded in stepping up a rung on the scout advancement ladder are Eldon Christopherson in tenderfoot and James Wiese in second class and first aid. Main business at the troop's last gathering was a discussion of its spring hiking program.

Marion Stearns and Lester Osterlath, scoutmaster of Troop 24, Clintonville, recently discussed plans with their scouts in regard to building a model log cabin for camporee "woodcraft" talk on Gardner Dam was presented by Mr. Osterlath at a recent meeting. Mr. John Buehrens visited the troop's meeting of the following week. The troop's paper-collecting campaign has been completed, and four tons of paper have been collected by members of the troop. Ivan Nordstrand, assistant scoutmaster, presented a short talk on the National Audubon society. The remainder of the evening was devoted to a discussion of the troop's spring social program.

10<sup>c</sup> FOR EACH SESSION

Every year we try to make the Cooking School bigger and finer than ever before. This is not easy to do, either, because you know, and we know, that this annual affair is far and away the greatest event of its kind in the entire Appleton area. Yet, this year's Cooking School — the seventeenth school we have staged — IS bigger and finer, and here's why:

We have engaged MARY ANN KIDD, nationally known home economics expert and charming lecturer, to conduct the school. Miss Kidd comes to Appleton for the first time with brand new, thrilling ideas — AND the ability to put her ideas across.

We have arranged for the finest array of free gifts that you have ever seen at any cooking school!

We have again engaged Tom Temple and his orchestra to entertain you in the grand fashion for which this musical organization is famous.

We have arranged a sparkling style show for you and planned a handy cook book.

Ask any woman who has visited previous cooking schools how well she liked them. Then — get your tickets tomorrow and plan to attend every day!

RIO Theatre 9 a. m. Daily

The cooking school is scheduled to end before noon each day and the regular Rio performance goes on at 1:30 p. m. Consult Rio ads for complete details.

Knights to Hear Talk On Travel

TRAVEL in the Philippines, China and Japan is the subject of a talk to be given by John McCormick, instructor in history and physical education director of Freedom High school, at the meeting of Father Fitzmaurice council, Knights of Columbus, at 8 o'clock Thursday night at Catholic home.

Mr. McCormick spent some time in Ethiopia, Egypt, India, China and Japan, and lived for nearly a year in the Philippine Islands. After the lecture Thursday night refreshments will be served.

Final reports will be given by Dr. William G. Keller, chairman, on the May ball which will be held next Tuesday night, May 10, at Elk hall. Tentative arrangements will be discussed for the final social event of the season, a supper party late this month.

Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles will observe visiting day at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at Eagle hall. Schafkopf, bridge and dice will be played. Mrs. Mae Schroeder will be chairman and her assistants will include Mrs. Dick, Mrs. Rose Morrow, Mrs. Adelaide Quell, Mrs. Louise Preuss and Mrs. Alma Babcock.

Delegates to the state assembly June 7 and 8 at Sturgeon Bay will be elected at a meeting of Deborah Rebekah lodge at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at Odd Fellow hall.

A 1-act play, "Pa's Seed Flats," which was presented at the last meeting of Appleton Woman's club, was repeated at a program in honor of mothers given by Pythian Sisters Monday night at Odd Fellow hall following a pot-luck supper. Those who took part were Mrs. Fred Bendt, Mrs. W. F. Kelm, Mrs. M. S. Reese and Mrs. Agnes Dean.

Mrs. Nita Brinckley sang a group of vocal selections accompanied by Mrs. J. F. Kenkel, and humorous readings were given by Mrs. Fred Bendt. Each mother present received a gift plant. Mrs. Dean was chairman of the program.

During the business meeting plans were made for a public card party May 16.

Past Matrons of the Order of Eastern Star will meet at 7 o'clock Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Harold Hamilton, 18 Winona court. Mrs. Charles Clark, Mrs. Vern Ames and Miss Elsie Kopplin will be assistant hostesses.

A 7 o'clock dinner at Mulholland's tea room, Kaukauna, followed by bridge will entertain members of Alpha Chi chapter of St. Mary Springs academy alumnae tonight. Mrs. A. E. Buchhuber will be hostess.

Mrs. George Hinton, N. Drew street, will be rich to her reading club Wednesday afternoon at her home. Mrs. John Reeve will have charge of the program.

Parties

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Schartau and Miss Leon Schartau, 715 N. Bateman street, entertained 40 guests at a fish dinner Sunday evening at the Hotel Fremont at Fremont in honor of the birthday anniversary of their daughter and sister, Mrs. E. N. Stames. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oelke, Mr. and Mrs. William Bieritz, Dr. L. Neville, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Stames and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Bowe. Appleton: Mr. and Mrs. George Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. John Haynes and daughter, Laura; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Pollnow and Mrs. Theresa Remington, Oshkosh; Mr. and Mrs. John Boettcher, Ripon; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schierland and son, Eugene, Tustin, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Tews, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tews, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Drews, Leonard Drews, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Krenke, Fremont; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schartau and daughter, Lorraine, Dale; and Mr. and Mrs. August Schartau and son, Arthur, Hortonville.

Mrs. Clara Rankin, 132 N. Locust street, was surprised Monday night in honor of her birthday anniversary. Twenty-two guests were present. Prizes at cards were won by Mrs. Raymond Rankin, Menasha, and Mrs. Louis Rankin and Mrs. Joseph Shebliski, Appleton.

Appleton Apostolate members of St. Joseph's church will sponsor an open card party at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at the parish hall. Schafkopf, bridge, plumsack and dice will be played. Mrs. John Arns and Mrs. Ernest Albrecht will be co-chairmen of the event.

Mrs. Kirk Miles and Mrs. Arthur Roemer won the prizes at the bridge party which the active chapter of Delta Gamma sorority gave Saturday afternoon at the chapter rooms on N. Drew street for alumnae of the sorority. Miss Mary Voecks, Appleton, was in charge of arrangements for the party.

The open card party that was to have been given Wednesday night at Moose hall by the Women of the Moose has been indefinitely postponed.

Miss Eunice Palm Is Honor Guest at Party

About 30 friends and relatives surprised Miss Eunice Palm with a miscellaneous shower Monday evening at the home of Mrs. John Hamm, 622 N. Division street. Schafkopf and dice were played, with prizes at the former going to Mrs. William Eries, Mrs. Paul Abendroth and Mrs. George Falk, and at dice to Miss Helen Abendroth, Mrs. James Seckin and Miss Norrize Stark. # Cooking School Students Will Hear 'Swingy' Music

MUSIC, sweet and swingy, will again prelude each session of the seventeenth annual Post-Crescent cooking school which opens at 9 o'clock next Tuesday morning at the Rio theater for a 4-day run. Of course it's music by Tom Temple and his orchestra, for Tom and his aggregation have become as much a part of the cooking school as the cake-baking, the roasting and the salad-mixing of the day's lesson.

After the musical introduction has put the women in that party mood, Miss Mary Ann Kidd of Atlanta, Ga., will present her lecture and demonstrations for the day and will answer questions which members of the audience may wish to ask. Miss Kidd spent last summer in Europe studying more about the art of cookery. She visited England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and France, and in Paris she studied at Cordon Bleu, the famous school of chefs.

While the foods which Miss Kidd prepares during the early part of the morning are cooking or baking, there will be an intermission during which a showing of latest fashions in dresses, millinery and footwear will be presented. Gowns will be shown from Grace's Apparel shop, hosiery and hats from the Home Hosiery company and shoes from Geenen's shoe department, all to the accompaniment of Tom Temple's music.

Time Well Spent

Women who have attended Post-Crescent cooking school in previous years have found them to be not only instructive but entertaining. In fact, the women who return for the event many weeks in advance, making it a gala occasion for meeting their friends and enjoying a morning away from the cares of household and family. And yet they can go with clear consciences, for they know their time is being well spent and the result will be better meals for their families with less effort and less strain on the household budget.

Again this year each woman attending the cooking school will receive a free souvenir tabloid cook book with not only the recipes and menus which Miss Kidd will demonstrate on the stage each day, but also many others which she has tried and found excellent. Short cuts to efficient homemaking will be pointed out to the women during the four days' lessons and demonstrations.

So, call up your friends today, ladies, and make up your parties to attend the cooking school next Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Rio theater. The management has been working for weeks to line up a program which will be as worthwhile, as enter-

65 Musicians of St. Mary School to Play in Festival

Menasha Students Entered In 57 Events at New London

Menasha—A group of 65 students of St. Mary High school will compete in the solo and ensemble contests in the district music festival at New London on Saturday. A total of 57 different events, ranging from vocal and horn solos to vocal and instrumental ensembles, will be entered by the St. Mary students.

The contest activities will start at 8 o'clock Saturday morning and will continue throughout the day. In the evening the St. Mary students will have an opportunity to appear in the massed band of several hundred. In addition some of the outstanding soloists and musical groups, as determined by the competition during the day, will be requested to repeat their selections at the evening performance.

The St. Mary High school students will compete in four classes, depending on their experience. The classes are open, A, B, and C. Winners of first division ratings at the solo and ensemble contests will be eligible to compete in a state tournament at Madison later in the year.

St. Mary Entries

The St. Mary High school students who will compete in the solo and ensemble contests at New London Saturday include:

Million Pike are Planted in Lake

Season's Fish Stocking Program Will Include 10,000,000 Fingerlings

Neenah—The fish stocking program for Lake Winnebago and tributaries started for the 1933 season Monday and today with 60 cans of fish containing 2,000,000 northern pike fry being planted in the lake Monday and 200 cans containing 600,000 fingerlings being planted today.

Assisting Warden Al Dunham in planting the fish were members of the Twin City Rod and Gun club and the Neenah High school conservation club. The tiny fish which recently were hatched were received from the various state fish hatcheries, and the shipments are the first consignments of what is expected to be the planting of more than 10,000,000 fish in adjoining waters by the conservation department this season.

A large number of the million pike were planted in waters near Neenah. Twenty-five cans were dumped near here Monday and many more cans of the fish were dumped into the lake here today. Thirty-five cans were dumped in Miller's bay off Menominee park, Oshkosh, Monday.

The restocking program, which was started last season, when more than 10,000,000 fish were planted plus this season's plantings will soon be noticed in improved fishing conditions in adjoining waters, local fishermen said.

Assistant Scout Heads Direct Troop Meeting

Menasha—The meeting of boy scout troop No. 9, sponsored by the Menasha Woodmen lodge, was in charge of Otto Hoffman, assistant scoutmaster, last night at the scout rooms in Nicolet school. The various parts of the meeting were in charge of other assistant scoutmasters of the troop.

Instructions in signaling in Morse code and inspection were in charge of James Flynn. The game period was conducted by Robert Benckowski. Opening and closing ceremonies were in charge of Bob Traatz.

A meeting of patrol leaders of troop No. 9 will be held Thursday evening in the scout rooms at Eliza D. Smith public library.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. This number also may be called before 7 o'clock in the evening for delivery of papers missed by carriers in Neenah or Menasha.

Circulation Loss Is Reported for April At Menasha Library

Menasha—It may be the spring weather, but circulation of books at Eliza D. Smith public library took a decided drop during April, according to the report of Miss Daisy Trilling, librarian. There were 10,182 books circulated in April according to the report as compared with 12,413 in March.

All other departments represented corresponding decreases with the exception of books loaned to rural readers. In that department the circulation increased slightly to 305. The average daily circulation at the library was 392 books.

Attendance likewise dropped from 2,067 in March to 1,714 for April. Students using the reading room numbered 180 while 98 received assistance. There were 209 books issued on teachers' cards.

During the month 64 new books were released for circulation while 378 old books were mended. Forty-one new readers registered. Fines collected during the month amounted to $14.17.

Predict Record Entry in State Tennis Tourney

Neenah High School Will Be Host to Netters For 5th Year

Neenah—Plans are being made to entertain the largest group of athletes ever entered in the state tournament when Neenah High school is host to the state tennis tournament on May 20 and 21, according to John Holzman principal of Neenah High school. The increased entry is expected because of the increased interest in tennis throughout the state this year, Mr. Holzman explained.

The entry is expected to pass the mark set last year when Neenah High school entertained 62 high school youths in the singles and 32 teams in the doubles. Competition again will be limited to either doubles or singles play. This will be the fifth year Neenah has been host to the tourney.

Entries must be made to P. F. Neuman, secretary of the W. I. A. A. at Marinette, by May 13. Points again will be awarded on a 5, 3, 1 basis according to information received by Mr. Holzman from the association secretary. A cup will be awarded to the school winning the championship while individual awards will be made to winners of the first four places in the singles and to the first three teams in the doubles.

Neenah High school has been requested to furnish sleeping accommodations for visiting players. Persons interested in accommodating any of the tennis players are requested to notify Mr. Holzman or any members of the Neenah High school tennis team. Accommodations will be needed for about 100 players, Mr. Holzman stated.

Appleton Man Denies Charge of Speeding

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh—Ben Cherkasky, 714 W. Washington street, Appleton pleaded not guilty to a charge of speeding in municipal court before Judge S. J. Luchinsger this morning. Trial was set for 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, May 10.

Cherkasky is charged with driving 42 miles an hour in a residential district of Neenah April 10.

Lester L. Schroeder, 24, 523 W. College avenue, Appleton, was fined $3 and costs by Judge Luchinsger when he pleaded guilty of failing to observe an arterial sign at the junction of Highway 125 and Superhighway 41 in the town of Menasha April 28.

Hunt Entertains Lions With Series of Readings

Menasha—Maurice Hunt, Neenah, who recently returned from a season on Broadway, entertained the Menasha Lions club at a Monday noon meeting with a series of readings from the essays written by Robert Benchley. Mrs. N. F. Verbrick sang three songs, "A May Morning," "Heard You Singing," by Coates and "The Star." She was accompanied by Miss May Hart at the piano. The program was in charge of N. F. Verbrick.

Neenah Personals

A daughter was born Monday afternoon at Theda Clark Memorial hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wieckert, 117 E. North Water street. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dahl, 129 Second street, this morning in Theda Clark Memorial hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lieber, Jr., 539 Twelfth street, will leave Friday for Washington, D. C. and New York City for a 2-week vacation.

FIREMEN CALLED

Neenah—The Neenah fire department was called to the smoke house at the rear of Kramer's meat market, Wisconsin avenue, at 1:15 this morning when the walls of the structure caught fire. Twelve hams were spoiled by the blaze.

PLAN EXERCISES
Neenah—Proximity plans for the observation of Mothers' day Sunday have been made by the Neenah Fraternal Order of Eagles. The exercises will be held Sunday afternoon in Eagles hall.

Neenah Trackmen To Meet Kaukauna Squad Wednesday

Rocket Runners to Compete in Second Dual Event of Season

Neenah—A strengthened Neenah High school track squad will race against Kaukauna trackmen at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the local track and field in its second dual meet of the season.

Coach Ole Jorgensen, who still is by no means optimistic about the outlook for this season, dropped a little of his customary gloom following Monday night's light practice session.

Although the coach didn't predict a victory over the reportedly strong Kaukauna squad, he gave the Rockets a better chance than he did before the New London contest. The Rockets received their worst beating in years by New London, 72 to 36, having been blanked in two events and allowed only a single point in each of three other events.

Relay Team
Kaukauna has won one meet already this season, defeating Kimberly and Chillicothe, but the Kaws were nosed out by West DePere. Peterson, the Kaws mainstay, will compete in his last interscholastic contest Wednesday when he will be 20 years of age. The Kaws still have a high point winner in Lambie, however.

The Rockets will run their first relay for points this season, and Coach Jorgensen is trying out Schmidt, Vanderwalker, Borenz and Haertl. They probably will run in that order.

Jorgensen will be able to use more men for Wednesday's contest. He plans to race 25 men. Preceding the last meet, several of the trackmen were "scratched" because of scholastic difficulties.

Twin City Deaths

PETER K. TUCHSCHERER
Menasha—Peter K. Tuchscherer, 69, died unexpectedly at his home at 345 First street at 11:45 Monday night. He had worked at the George Banta Publishing company up to Saturday.

Mr. Tuchscherer was born in Menasha July 8, 1868, and was a life resident of the city. He was a member of the Holy Name society of St. Mary Catholic church, of the Catholic Order of Foresters and of the Germania Benevolent society. Survivors are the widow, Minnie; a daughter, Mrs. Carl Stilt, Neenah; three sons, Reuben J. and Theodore Tuchscherer, Menasha, and Ray Tuchscherer, Neenah, and a brother, Joseph Tuchscherer, Menasha.

Funeral services will be conducted at 8:30 Thursday morning at the Laemmrich funeral home and at 9 o'clock at St. Mary Catholic church. Burial will be in the parish cemetery. The Rev. John Hummel will conduct the services. The body will be at the Laemmrich funeral home from this evening until the hour of the funeral.

MRS. CARRIE OBRON
Neenah—Mrs. Carrie Oboron, 63, 112 W. Wisconsin avenue, Neenah, died 10:25 this morning after a 2-month illness. She was born Feb. 24, 1875, and was an expert china painter, having many pupils in Appleton and Neenah. She often acted as judge of China painting exhibits at fairs in this vicinity.

Mrs. Oboron was a member of St. Thomas Episcopal church and of the Neenah chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution. Her husband died in 1927 and a son died in infancy. John Stevens, Appleton, is a nephew. The funeral will be held at 10:30 Thursday morning with the Rev. A. A. Chambers, rector of St. Thomas Episcopal church, in charge of services at the chapel of Oak Hill cemetery, Neenah. The body will remain at the Sorenson funeral home until the time of the funeral.

THOMAS A. SHEPPARD
Menasha—Funeral services for Thomas A. Sheppard, 45, a brother of Mrs. Jack Ferris and George Sheppard, will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Konrad funeral home, Oshkosh. Mr. Sheppard, a World war veteran died early Monday morning. The Rev. J. A. Daum will conduct the services. Burial will be in the Omro Junction cemetery. Military rites will be conducted.

Sport Club Directors Discuss Fish Contest

Neenah—Reports on activities of members of the Twin City Rod and Gun club in the new membership meeting Monday evening indicated keen competition. Members are interested in the long list of prizes topped by the grand prize, a high grade springer spaniel puppy being given by Francis Landig. The directors met last night at the home of Mr. Landig at 118 W. Columbia avenue, Neenah.

The committee on fish was instructed to make complete detailed plans for carrying out the annual fishing contest to be held for all members, including juniors, by the board.

The board also agreed to maintain two deputy wardens again for the ensuing year and to pay for their bond. Warren Tippler and Bernard Nobbe are the deputies. After the meeting, Mr. Landig served refreshments in celebration of the birth of his daughter.

48 Report for Spring Grid Drills at Menasha

Menasha—Forty-eight candidates for the 1933 football team of Menasha High school answered the first call by Coach N. A. Calder Monday afternoon in the activities room of the school. Plans for the spring training period were discussed.

The first practice will be held Wednesday after school at the field adjoining Butte des Morts school. Emphasis during the spring training will be on punters, passers and backs, according to Coach Calder.

HITLER DEPARTS FOR ROME

Senior Class Names Two to Give Menasha Commencement Talks

Menasha—Vernon Ponto and Marilyn Fahrbach were chosen as the representative boy and girl of the senior class of Menasha High school by their classmates this morning. These senior representatives will give the commencement talks at the exercises on June 2.

Naming of a representative boy and girl from the senior class is an innovation at Menasha High school and will supplant naming of a class valedictorian and salutatorian.

Not only scholarship but school activities and leadership were considered by the class in naming the representative students. Both ranked in the upper 20 per cent of the class in scholastic standings.

Miss Fahrbach was active in Cue club, served as a newspaper typist, took part in extemporaneous reading as a sophomore, assembly skit and history debate as a junior, served on the float committee when a freshman and when a sophomore; was a member of the junior-senior party committee when she was a junior and this year was a member of the cast of the senior class play. In addition she tried out for declamatory as a freshman, one-act play as a sophomore and for assembly program chairman.

Ponto participated in art as a sophomore; one act play, debate, oratory, tennis as a sophomore, junior and senior; was co-editor of the yearbook, vice president of his junior class and president of the senior class; member of float committees, Latin, Greek, French and junior; chairman of the boys' fire committee; member of party and entertainment committees through his four years in school. He also participated in assembly programs, a member of the senior class play, history class play, National Honor society, chairman of the magazine campaign, class ring chairman and announcement chairman as a senior.

The two seniors will be assisted in choosing the subjects of their commencement talks by W. J. Chapliss, Miss Isabel Eddle and Miss Joette. For a sophomore, the high school faculty. Assistance in preparing the talks will be given by John Novakowski and Miss Lucille Schwartz, forensic coaches at Menasha High school.

'A Theoretical Revolution'

As a matter of strict theory the President's message on monopoly implies a reversal of the underlying ideas of the New Deal. But we shall have to wait and see whether in practice it marks a radical change in the President's convictions.

There is no way of reconciling the ideas which the President sponsored in his message on Friday with the ideas which have guided his programs since he was inaugurated. For more than five years he has been moving in one direction and in this message he suggests that he would now like to move in an opposite direction. If this change of direction is to be taken seriously this is a critical moment in his career. For he will have to retract much of what he has taught his followers to believe and to undo much of what he has taught politicians and pressure groups to expect.

New Deal Pushed Reforms It Had To Undertake

The New Deal has carried out many reforms which a resolutely liberal administration would have had to undertake—for example, its insistence of disclosure of the facts in the capital markets, its efforts to reduce trade barriers, its conservation measures, its control of the export of gold, its international gold standard to manage money as a public function, and, in spite of the bias shown in the Wagner act and its administration, its attempt to insure to labor civil rights that have long been ineffective. But these have not been the central policies of the New Deal; the disintegrating fundamental and most far-reaching experiments of the New Deal are to be found in the N. R. A. and in the A. A. A. and a vast array of minor measures based on the same philosophy.

When the real New Dealers talk about the New Deal they are not talking about the incidental reforms that a Theodore Roosevelt or a Woodrow Wilson would have undertaken; they mean the experiments in a managed economy under government auspices that only convinced collectivists can support. And when liberals and progressives, as for example, Governor La Follette, oppose the New Deal, it is these measures that they are opposing. For they believe that the movement toward a managed economy by government planning and under government direction is bound to impair the productivity of the country and is certain to weaken, and in the end destroy, the liberty which depends upon maintaining a government of limited powers.

Roosevelt is Neither Socialist nor Liberal

Not it is almost certain that President Roosevelt has never been a convinced socialist. But it is also certain that he has never been a deeply convinced liberal. Until 1930 he was a conventional party Democrat with strong humanitarian impulses. In the crucial years between 1930 and 1933 he seems to have found that his old ideas, as reflected, for example, in the Chicago platform of 1932, did not furnish a ready answer to the tremendous problems of the world crisis. Compelled to act in a hurry because the emergency was so great, finding ordinary private initiative paralyzed and local activity stopped, he resorted successfully to centralized and semi-dictatorial action.

This worked so well for the immediate emergency that he began insensibly to think that this was the only way to govern in the modern world. And so, beginning with the spring of 1933, he has approached almost all great questions with the preconceptions of a collectivist.

President Lets Business Suffer to Fix Prices

His dominating idea has been that the power of government should be used to provide producers with a certain price for their goods and workers with a certain wage. In order to fix these prices and wages at the point supposed to be desirable, he has been willing to let business men curtail production, to subsidize farmers to curtail production, to support labor unions in a refusal to let men be employed privately except at a certain wage. The whole of N. R. A. and of A. A. A. and much of the relief and public works policy of this Administration rests on this fundamental notion that everything, production, government subsidies, doles, public expenditures, must be managed to insure desirable prices and desirable wages to business men, farmers, and workers.

Now this collectivist conception of prices and wages is the exact opposite of the liberal conception. The liberal idea is that the prices of goods and of labor are the only means, except government fiat, by which the production of wealth can be regulated. Instead of wanting to regulate production in order to obtain a fixed price, the liberal wants the fluctuation of prices in a free market to regulate production.

Liberty Doomed Under Private Price Fixing

This is the essential difference between collectivism and liberalism. The difference is not, as so many suppose, between doing something and doing nothing, between a positive policy and letting things drift. The difference is that the liberal wishes to use the markets so that prices will correctly express the relation between demand and supply. The liberal, therefore, would use the power of government to break up private monopoly and to repeal or regulate the privileges—tariff privileges, tax privileges, patent privileges, franchises, and corporate privileges—on which monopoly depends.

The objective of liberalism is to revive and preserve markets in which high prices for a commodity will determine that more of it should be produced and low prices that less of it should be produced. For the liberal maintains that unless these vital decisions are made by the markets they will be made first in the offices of corporations and eventually in government bureaus. And the liberal argues that the power to fix prices is the ultimate power over the life and labor of a people, and that no system of liberty can survive under the private or public administration of prices.

We now find President Roosevelt adopting the liberal ideas and attacking the monopoly and calling for an inquiry with a view to legislation which will restore the fixing of prices by competition in the open market. I hope the inquiry will be undertaken and that it will be followed through thoroughly to its conclusions. For if this is done, it will mean the re-education of the New Dealers, and it may contribute to the re-union of the American progressives who are now hopelessly divided by the excursion into collectivism.

By the Associated Press

New York—Dean Carl W. Ackerman, whose job is teaching Columbia's journalism students how to be good reporters, introduced William Allen White at the journalism school's silver jubilee banquet last night as "a Pulitzer prize winner of 1923."

"If I were a managing editor and you brought in that story I'd fire you," declared the Emporia, Kans. editor. "It was in 1924, not 1923."

FOOTPRINTS DOWNFALL

Lindsay, Okla.—Ovie Battles' big feet were his downfall. Sheriff A. J. Beddo, investigating a cattle theft, found large footprints.

"Oh, oh," he said. "I don't know but one man in this county with feet that big. Ovie Battles."

He said Battles confessed and implicated another man. Both were sentenced to two years in prison.

Playlet Will be Given at Mother, Daughter Dinner

Annual Gathering Will be Held at Evangelical Church Tonight

The annual mother and daughter banquet at Emmanuel Evangelical church will take place this evening at the church under the auspices of the Social Aid. Mrs. Marvin Babler will be toastmistress and the program will include a playlet as well as toasts and responses. The theme for the banquet is "The Fountain of Youth." The fourth quarterly conference of the congregation was held last night Sunday morning the Rev. G. H. Blum, pastor, preached on the topic, "On the Sea of Galilee."

The Rev. A. Guenther, pastor of St. John Evangelical and Reformed church, was in Oshkosh Monday attending a gathering of ministers and their wives from this vicinity. Brotherhood will meet this evening, each member being privileged to bring a friend. Last Sunday the pastor spoke on "The Stranger Made Known."

The first of a series of monthly day conferences for Lutheran pastors of the Wisconsin synod was held Sunday at Dale, the Rev. R. E. Ziesemer, pastor of St. Olaf Lutheran church, attending from Appleton. The conferences will be held early each month at various churches in the vicinity. Last Sunday afternoon the Lutheran Chorus of Sheboygan sang at St. Olaf Lutheran before a large audience. In the morning the pastor spoke on "Christ Jesus, the Good Shepherd."

Mid-Week Service

First Baptist church will have its usual mid-week prayer service at 8 o'clock Thursday night. The Rev. R. H. Spangler, pastor, preached Sunday morning on "The Problem of Evil," at a communion service. In the afternoon he and a group of young people attended a spring rally of the Green Bay Baptist Young People's association at Green Bay.

Trustees of St. Paul Lutheran church will meet Wednesday night at the church. Last Sunday the Rev. T. J. Sauer, honorary pastor, preached a sermon on "Christ's Resurrection Ever Makes Us Glad and Grateful." Brotherhood of First English Lutheran church will have a musical program at its meeting this evening in the parish hall. The subject of the sermon given by the Rev. F. C. Reuter last Sunday was "We are God's Workmanship, Created in Christ Jesus." In the evening Capital University Glee club gave a concert at Fellowship hall.

"The Great Question—Who is Christ?" was the subject of the sermon given by the Rev. Theodore Marth, pastor of Zion Lutheran church, last Sunday morning at his church. At Memorial Presbyterian church the Rev. Robert K. Bell, pastor, spoke on "The Man Nobody Missed."

Will Name Play Cast

This evening a committee from St. Mary parish will meet to choose the cast for a play which the high school young people's group will present May 22 to raise funds for the parochial school children's picnic. St. Mary Study club will meet at 7:15 Wednesday evening in Columbia hall to consider the topic, "The Right to Life." First Friday devotions will be held at 7:30 Friday night, after which Christian Mothers society will meet in Columbia hall.

Wednesday is the feast of the solemnity of St. Joseph, the patron saint of St. Joseph's parish. However the feast will not be celebrated at the local church until Sunday.

"Everlasting Punishment" was the subject of the lesson-sermon for Sunday at First Church of Christ Scientist. The following passage is from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Whom the Lord Loveth He Chasteneth." The design of love is to reform the sinner. If the sinner's punishment here has been insufficient to reform him, the good man's heaven would be a hell to the sinner. Escape from punishment is not in accordance with God's govern-

Maybe Vanderbilt Is Like Small Boy and Tree House

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—There's an age in little boys when they like to dig caves and build shacks and tree houses, and one of the most exciting events of my own youth at that stage was a night before the fourth of July, when I was allowed to sleep at the home of a friend and we sneaked out, after dark, to climb into a big oak, where we had built a beautiful cottage among the branches. We had a piece of old carpet on the floor and a candle for light, and we turned in on the hard boards about half-past 10, but were so excited that we could not sleep and were up and out, exploding bombs under the neighbors' windows long before dawn. We had good enough homes, but there was something special about that unsightly crate in the big tree, with nailheads protruding through the boards, and with scarcely enough room for two, small as we were.

All experience is said to add to our understanding, or something like that, however, and the episode of the tree-house on that night before the glorious fourth explains to me an otherwise strange party which the writer's agent, the other day, in the far suburbs

Mr. By and his good wife were about to gnash their teeth at their rations when, with a cheery "What ho!" and "Hi, there!" a motor trailer pulled up and out popped no less than a genuine first-degree Vanderbilt, to wit, Cornelius, Jr., who announced that he had come to spend the night and could they stake him to a small patch of clearing where he might make fast?

Well, to be sure, they could, for after all, one is not descended upon by a Vanderbilt every day, and wouldn't he come in and swizzle a small swizzle to pass the time while they made ready the spare bed and slaughter another steer for dinner.

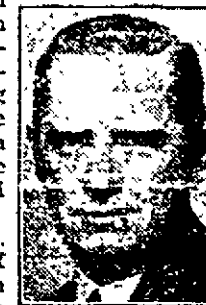

Ne, no! Not at all. Thanks, old man, for Mr. Vanderbilt was up the mast, three weeks, going on four, and was fixing to dine on his own provisions in his own little diggings and, while dinner was done, to fold up the stove and collapse the ice box and pull the disappearing bed out of the bread locker.

Delighted in Showing Hosts Through The Rig

All this Mr. Vanderbilt did, as quiet a guest and as well provided as a platoon of U. S. Marines, and when he tied loose next day and drove off down the road a few bent blades of grass on the far lawn and a note in the guest book were the only signs of his visit. Somehow, one expected that the antique hitching post would not have taken on a coat of gilt and that the simple, wooden staircase would have turned to a great sweep of rose-tinted marble.

But before he left Mr. Vanderbilt delighted in showing his hosts through his little tree house on wheels. He showed them the little locker where he kept his suits and coats, the chest of drawers where he kept his underwear and socks, the bathtub concealed beneath the bed, the collapsible desk on which he writes his articles on a typewriter which disappears into a niche beneath a closet in which he keeps the eggs and bacon, alongside the compartment where he stores his scotch and makes the ice cubes in a refrigerator run by a motor concealed in the stern.

This is the home in which Mr. Vanderbilt has toured this country and Europe and which, when he went close to the Spanish border in France, was momentarily detailed on the suspicion that it was a new type of military tank. Inside, it is not much more than twice the size of the cell to which Mr. Richard Whitney has been consigned at

College Registration Will Open Wednesday

Fall registration for freshmen, sophomores, and juniors at Lawrence college will start Wednesday and continue through May 21, according to information from the office of Dean John S. Millis.

Leaflets carrying outlines of courses that will be offered next year are being distributed to students this week. The leaflets contain information on the following new courses which will be on the curriculum: history of sculpture from the renaissance to present day, history of painting from renaissance period to present day, recent world history, conservation of natural resources, cooperatives and Christianity, advance general physics, adolescent psychology, educational tests and measurements, and history of education.

Costello Seeks $200 Monthly From Daughter

Los Angeles—(AP)—Time was when Maurice Costello made the hearts of matinee audiences to pity-pat.

Today, the former stage favorite complains, he is broke, ill and out of a job.

In a suit on file in superior court, he called upon his daughter, Dolores Costello, divorced wife of John Barrymore, to contribute $200 a month for his support.

Miss Costello, whom the elderly actor described as in extremely good condition financially, was quick to deny that she had shirked a filial obligation.

"For years I have contributed to the support of my father," she said, "and only recently I made an alms, adolescent psychology, educational tests and measurements, and history of education."

She said she would contest the suit.

Appleton School Orchestra to Give Special Concert

Arrange Stunts in Conjunction With District Music Festival

New London—The Appleton High school Class A orchestra under the direction of Jay Williams, considered an outstanding high school musical organization in the state, will feature the district solo and ensemble music festival program at the Washington High school gymnasium Saturday evening with a special 40-minute concert starting at 7 o'clock. It was announced yesterday by Superintendent H. H. Helms. Appleton's Class A and B orchestras are the only orchestras in those classes entered in the concert festival here May 14.

A special stunt program at the city athletic park and a mixed parade of contestants will entertain the New London public Saturday afternoon. At 3 o'clock D. O. Blissett, former band director at Shawano, will conduct a stunt program at the city ball park with solo and ensemble contestants who are not engaged at the contest halls. At 4 o'clock a parade will be staged with these miscellaneous students to provide a striking pattern with the many differently designed and colored uniforms of the 32 schools to be represented.

Massed Band
Continuing the evening program after the Appleton orchestra will be a massed band of about 150 first place solo winners from Class A and B schools, and numbers by outstanding soloists of the day. Results of the contests will be announced at the close of the program.

A charge of 25 cents will admit a person to the entire day's activities. Tickets will be available at any contest hall and will be good for admission at any other program during the day. Contest halls will include the Masonic temple, parish hall of the Most Precious Blood church, Methodist church, Congregational church, Gospel tabernacle, public library, Washington High school auditorium, gymnasium and study hall.

Dinner will be served to contestants Saturday by the Ladies Aid society of the Congregational church and the Senior sodality of the Most Precious Blood church.

Launch New London Campaign for Funds To Control Cancer

New London—The enlistment drive for the American Society for the Control of Cancer was launched in New London today by the local unit of the Women's Field division according to Mrs. F. J. Pfeiffer, president. The campaign for funds will continue through the rest of the week. The drive has been arranged as a house to house canvass throughout the city. There will be no solicitation in the business section, to avoid duplication. Complete coverage has been arranged through the various women's organizations in the city, whose heads comprise the local committee. Four workers will be supplied by each group to canvass the city by blocks. Reports will be made through the organization represented by the workers.

Seventy per cent of the subscription funds will remain in the county and city for dissemination in the education campaign for the control of cancer.

High School Musicians Perform for Rotarians

New London—Washington High school musicians continued to entertain the Rotary club at its regular luncheon meeting at the Elwood hotel yesterday noon. Instrumental solos were played by John Calef, Tim Kellie, Jack Seering, Audrey Dean and Edward Krueger. Gale and Kellie formed a duet. Mrs. Orr Gierd was accompanist.

Plans were made to attend the Rotary district convention at Antigo May 9 and 10. Two incoming officers were named as delegates, R. J. Meyerding, president-elect, and Ormond W. Capener, secretary. Also planning to attend are F. L. Zaud, Dr. F. J. Murphy, M. W. Knapstein and Ben Hartquist and their wives.

Rogers Takes Office as Justice at New London

New London—Fred J. Rogers yesterday took office as police justice in the office in the city hall. He replaces Fred Archibald, justice for 10 years who was defeated in the recent city election.

Rogers took his oath of office before the city clerk several weeks ago and disposed of a minor civil action as his first case yesterday morning.

Workers Alliance Unit Is Launched

Henry Hoag Named Temporary Chairman of New London Group

New London—Organization of a New London local of the Wisconsin Workers Alliance, affiliated with the Workers Alliance of America, was started by Harlan Fenske, state secretary of Milwaukee, at a meeting of WPA and relief workers at the city hall council chambers last night.

About 25 applications were received, and temporary officers were elected, with another meeting for permanent organization scheduled soon. Those at the meeting estimated there are about 100 men in New London eligible for membership.

Henry Hoag was named temporary chairman; Guy Ingessoll, vice chairman; Elcho Jullson, secretary; Albert Heimbruch, treasurer; and Ed Hertler, organizer.

Fenske said that the Workers Alliance was organized to aid WPA and relief workers, unemployed and old age pensioners in securing just wages and improved working conditions. The alliance is recognized both by the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. as an independent labor organization and cooperates with both Fenske said.

It is recognized also by President Roosevelt and the WPA administration as the official bargaining agent for the WPA workers, he said.

New London Personals

New London—Miss Dorothy Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Smith, underwent an emergency appendectomy at Community hospital yesterday. Miss Smith is a senior at Washington High school.

A. O. Zimmerman returned during the weekend from a several weeks' visit in California and the west.

Miss Mae Mevis is visiting this week at the home of her father, Andrew Laub. She has been employed the last year at Kaukauna.

Visiting at the C. J. Smith home Saturday and Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Utendorfer, St. Francis; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Utendorfer, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Young, and Mrs. Joseph Robinson and children, Menasha; Irvin Fuss and Miss Margaret Smith, Neenah.

Mrs. Theresa Abraham left Sunday to spend a month visiting in Chicago. She went with Clarence Samlow and Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Samlow of Chicago who visited at the Henry Mumm home from Friday to Sunday. Mrs. Hugo Samlow and son Jack spent all last week at the Mumm home. The group was entertained at the Peter Abraham home at Neenah Sunday.

Lorraine, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Balhazar, Sugar Bush, underwent an operation at Community hospital yesterday.

Waupaca Men Return From State Conclave

Waupaca—Leo Martin and Alton Hanson returned Sunday from Madison where they had attended the annual Wisconsin Federation of Stamp Clubs convention. During the last year Mr. Martin was southern regional vice president of the W.F.S.C. as well as president of the local society. The club is a branch of the Society of Philatelic Americans, a national organization.

The Waupaca Philatelic society will hold its semi-annual auction at Castle hall at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, May 11, in Castle hall. The auction will consist of United States as well as foreign stamps. Leo Martin is the auctioneer. A luncheon will follow the auction.

Although this is the youngest of Waupaca's varied organizations, the original seven members in 1932 have grown to more than twenty-five. Members are listed from Stevens Point, Plover, Nelsonville and Waupaca. Open meetings are held on the second Wednesday of each month, the programs being held at Castle hall starting at 8 o'clock.

Activities of the club are the buying and trading of stamps among members, displays of stamps and illustrated talks.

New London Racing Boat May Be Fastest Craft on Wolf River

New London—A 60-horsepower, 20-foot inboard racing boat was launched in the Wolf river here Sunday by Ted Thomas, a member of the New London Boat club. The trim craft is built with a seamless steel hull and is reported to attain a speed of 35 miles per hour, making it the fastest on the river in these parts. Thomas expects to try out the racer soon.

The new addition to the New London fleet was acquired from a party at Sturgeon Bay in a trade for Thomas's 36-foot cabin cruiser.

The cruiser was taken down river to Oshkosh Sunday, manned by Robert Knapstein, Martin Kleiner, Delbert Otis and the buyers from Sturgeon Bay. A delay of several hours was experienced at the Northport bridge at noon when the key to the government lock could not be located and the boat was worked under the closed bridge sideways. Navigator officially opened on the Wolf river last week.

Roy Krahenbuhl, William Wudtke and Arnold Kopitzke are preparing to launch their inboard runabouts this week as the boat club is completing preparations for the boating season. Lex Frank brought a new 24-foot runabout up the river from Appleton last week. The boat was purchased from Dr. A. Lester Koch of Appleton.

The club started Saturday to construct a series of four or five locks along the Wolf river near the clubhouse. The first has been completed.

Big Six Volleyball Team Wins Intramural Title at High School

New London—The Big Six Class A team of the boys intramural volleyball tourney defeated the Chinamen of Class B for the all-school championship at the Washington High school gymnasium yesterday afternoon. The Big Six won two out of three games 15-12, 8-15 and 15-6.

The two teams battled immediately after winning the Class A and B championships yesterday afternoon. The Big Six became all-school contenders by beating Kenneth Magalska's Porcelain Boys two out of three, one overtime. Scores were 15-9, 7-15 and 19-17. The Chinamen won Class B by taking two easy games from the All-Americans, both 15-3.

The all-school champions will be honored by having their names engraved on the intramural plaque. On the team are William Schmidt, captain, George Edminster, Junior Prahl, Paul Monroe, Karl Zerranner, and Eugene Eggers.

Making up the champion Class B team were Donald Quintance, captain, Dick Demming, Francis Buchholz, Robert Houk, Dean Jeffers, William Krause, John Calef and Duane Schoening.

The championship event concludes the volleyball season and the boys now are engaged in a softball tournament which will terminate with the school year at the end of this month.

Pleads Not Guilty of Violating Game Laws and Resisting Officer

Waupaca—A warrant was issued Saturday for the arrest of Henry Kaneman, town of Mukwa, on charges of violating the game laws and resisting an officer. Appearing before Justice S. W. Johnson Monday morning, Kaneman pleaded not guilty to both charges, and hearing was set for May 6, before Judge Bryon B. Park in circuit court on the latter charge, and May 16 before Justice Johnson on the charge of violation of game laws.

For some weeks the authorities under direction of Conservation Warden George Whalen, have been watching for the person or persons, who have been operating 31 set lines on the cut-off of the Little Wolf river, near Readfield. The warden and Deputy Phillip Berry spent Wednesday night under Kaneman's cottage on the river.

At 5:30 Thursday morning, they charge, they saw him go to his lines. Returning Saturday with a warrant for his arrest, Whalen charges a double-barrelled shotgun was leveled at him after he entered the house. Kaneman ordered him to leave which he did, leaving his deputy to watch the premises until his return, with officers of the sheriff's department.

Under Sheriff Walter Jones and Traffic Officer Roy Myhill returned later with Whalen and placed Kaneman under arrest.

Among coronation gifts from dominions and colonies to the King and Queen of England is a whale's tooth necklace from a Fiji chief.

The Boxwood Barrier

By BLANCHE SMITH FERGUSON

The Story So Far: Judith Goodloe marries self-made Reuben Oliver for his money, only to discover he is bankrupt. After their twins are born, red-headed Cissy Rogers, who loves Reuben, gets him a job in a lumber camp managed by Gary Brent--the man Judith loves. Always a fighter, living by Judith's code has weakened Reuben. Now, after a violent quarrel with Judith over Gary, he decides to make his own laws. Cissy, on a visit, shocks Judith with the news that Gary may lose his job to Reuben. Also, she bluntly says she loves Reuben and is out to get him.

lieve it wouldn't continue to work out well.

Flame Growing Warmer

On the way home Gary managed to detach Judith from Cissy and Reuben: "Let's walk home by the Ridge. There's a moon."

Her high beating heart warned her: "Don't. Unless you want to precipitate things, don't--Gary will kiss you tonight--if he does--"

Sensibly she reminded herself that Gary had been kissing her, on occasions, all her life. Why the sudden coyness?

She did not deceive herself. She could feel the smothered flame growing warmer--

"It will be absolutely ruinous to my dress," she protested weakly. "I'll help you fix it under your coat." He commenced to wrap swirls of chiffon carefully about her.

"How do you girls get away with it? The most agile male swathed in one quarter of this would trip and break his neck." He talked lightly to disguise his real feelings; "How's that?"

"Fine--if it stays," skeptically, "maybe I'll tie it with my scarf. There--that's better."

The Ridge--a climbing path, rimmed with semi-circular valley. Towering pines bordered its inner side. Their needles made a soft, spicy carpet. The night was brightened by a million stars. Soon an almost exhausted last quarter moon would stagger up.

Judith walked lightly on orange satin heels--on little wings of uncertainty--in hushed breathlessness he arm slipped through Gary's. He held her hand in a warm clasp, content to be silent until they were half-way home. Then: "Let's rest on Gambler's Ledge, Judy. I've something to say to you."

"Must you say it--now--tonight?" "Tonight," doggedly.

At the byways Judith's feet faltered. If she stopped at Gambler's Ledge now the old order of things would be gone forever--no more careless, happy drifting--she would be swept into the whirlwind--

"Judith," Gary began when they were seated on the rock that jutted over the valley, "remember the moths we watched doing their dance of death, the night you came here?"

"I remember--silly things."

"It was their fate I've been doing just such a dance." Gary could not miss a chance to dramatize himself
